First car up the ramp of the civic View Street parking garage this morning was driven by Mrs. C. C. Wyatt after her husband, the city manager, officially opened the building. With her were wives of Mayor R. B. Wilson and Ald. Michael Griffin—credited as the driving force behind the project. Cavalcade of cars bearing civic and business officials followed into the partly completed building.

City Swings Into New Era On Double-Barrel Triumph

Civic Square Approved, Parking Garage Opened

By JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

A jubilant city council—backed by a landslide vote for the civic precinct—attended the opening of the first civic car park downtown today.

They all felt that the double event marked the turning point in a full-scale revitalization of downtown Victoria.

"This is indeed a red-letter day for the city of Victoria," said a beaming Mayor R. B. Wilson as he addressed more than 100 persons at the opening of the View Street parking garage.

"Last night Centennial Victoria Square received overwhelming endorsement and today we are opening this fine parking building which signifies that the hopes and aspirations of downtown Victoria have been achieved."

Election Story Page 7

The $950,000 Centennial Victoria Square money by-law, which will create a comprehensive civic precinct around the City Hall within three years—was backed by a four-to-one majority at the polls.

It drew 4,099 yes votes against 1,018 no ballots in a turnout that saw 30.92 per cent of the eligible voters signify their wishes.

They Wanted to 'Get on With It'

The sheer weight of approval by the ratepayers is expected to set up a momentum within council to keep revitalization projects humming until the city's rundown areas are transformed.

There appeared no doubt that the ratepayers were anxious for city council to "get on with it" as some aldermen observed and the endorsement is expected to intensify enthusiasm for other projects such as the Inner Harbor improvement, urban renewal and a general beautification program.

The new confidence generated by the vote was shown by Mayor Wilson when he predicted the View Street car park will be "the forerunner of other structures that will retain downtown Victoria as the most complete, most attractive and most fascinating shopping centre on Vancouver Island.

(More informally, the mayor's first reaction when told ballot counting indicated the bylaw would pass, was an ear-splitting "Whoopie!") Civic precinct chairman Ald. A. W. Toome, who also won reelection Thursday, said he would schedule a meeting for Monday to begin detailed work on the precinct plan.

Honor of officially opening the car park—put into service although a couple of floors remain to be completed—was given city manager C. C. Wyatt in recognition of his years of service to the city. Downtown Businessmen's Association president Douglas Abbott was master of ceremonies. Continued on Page 2

YOUNGEST IN CANADA

City Bishop Consecrated

ST. BONIFACE (CP)—Most Rev. Remigio Joseph De Roo became Canada's youngest Roman Catholic bishop today with his consecration in St. Boniface Basilica.

The 38-year-old clergyman leaves shortly for British Columbia to take over Victoria diocese. He was consecrated in a three-hour morning ceremony before an array of church dignitaries.

The consecration service conducted by Archbishop Maurice Baudoux of St. Boniface was attended by 21 bishops of the church in Canada, several hundred parish priests, monks and nuns and a congregation bringing the total number in the 1,600-seat basilica to 1,200.

Archbishop Baudoux was assisted by Archbishop Georges Cabana of Sherbrooke, Que., and Archbishop coadjutor Martin Johnson of Vancouver.

Representatives from other churches included Anglican Bishop J. O. Anderson, United

College principal Dr. W. C. Lockhart of Winnipeg and Rev. Dr. E. J. Treusch, executive director of the Canadian Lutheran Council.

The Manitoba government was represented by Lieut. Gov. Erick Willis and his wife. Sermons were delivered by coadjutor Archbishop Philip P. Pocock of Toronto and Bishop Aime Decosse of Gravelbourg, Sask.

Bishop De Roo—formerly parish priest of Holy Cross Church in Winnipeg received the bishop's ring and cross of the late Archbishop Arthur Beliveau of St. Boniface from his consecrator.

The ring had been designated last week as a personal gift of Pope John to the new bishop.

FOR NATO

Seaborne A-Force Proposed

Times News Services

PARIS—U.S. State Secretary Rusk today proposed formation of a multilateral NATO seaborne nuclear force while another American official strongly criticized the preparedness of NATO forces.

Council sources quoted Rusk as saying the Seaborne nuclear force—earlier proposed by the Eisenhower administration—would be established if the European members of NATO wanted it.

The sources said Rusk made his surprise offer after intervention during the 15-nation NATO ministerial council's military debate. Rusk named political and military control and cost as the main problems of the seaborne nuclear force.

In strong criticism of European NATO forces, U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara said only the 400,000 American troops and the Canadian NATO brigade were "combat-ready."

Conference sources said the retiring NATO military chief, Gen. Lauris Norstad of the U.S., criticized the conventional forces at his disposal.

SHORT OF EVERYTHING

Norstad said he had two aims in Europe—deterrence and defence—and could not achieve one without the other.

The sources said McNamara described NATO forces, with the exception of those from the U.S. and Canada, as being short of everything.

While not mentioning any country by name, McNamara said there would have to be more money spent, more men, more modern equipment and more obsolete aircraft.

He said this all was within the power of the alliance.

Sources said the general approach of McNamara's speech indicated it was U.S. policy to use whatever weapons were required to protect the interests of the alliance.

50 SURVIVE AIR CRASH

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A Brazilian airliner made a forced landing on a jungle lake shore near the Amazon River port of Manaus today and the air force said all 50 persons aboard survived. The four-engine Constellation went down in pre-dawn darkness a few minutes before its scheduled landing at Manaus. The plane was on a 2,500-mile flight from Rio de Janeiro via Belem and other points.

FRIENDSHIP DOLLARS

It Started With War Victims

The Times appeal for "Friendship Dollars for India" is made in support of the Unitarian Service Committee.

That name is, in a way, misleading. Because the USC has nothing to do with the Unitarian churches.

Back in 1945, when the USC was formed, it was a Canadian development of the work of the Unitarian churches in the United States.

But it quickly severed all connections with the U.S. and the Unitarians although it retained its original name.

It has for years been an independent agency with support from persons of many religions.

Just as it draws support regardless of creed so it also extends help regardless of nationality, color or caste. It raises funds by public appeals across Canada with the goal this year being $300,000.

When it began in 1945 it helped mainly war victims. Today it is victims of poverty, disease and illiteracy who are being aided and rehabilitated.

But only a small proportion of the total who need help are being aided by the USC. There is not enough money to finance badly-needed expansion of facilities in India, for example.

For this reason The Times is appealing, on the USC's behalf, for "Friendship Dollars for India."

These "Friendship Dollars" are the keys which open the door to a new life for children in the areas of India served by the USC. So far Victorians have given $6,244.

Contributions should be sent to "Friendship Dollars for India," c/o The Times, 2631 Douglas. All donations are acknowledged in the paper and official receipts are sent later by the USC.

The Bank of Montreal, at Yates and Douglas, has also made arrangements to receive donations to the appeal.

'Oil Industry Will Not Suffer'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian oil production targets will be reached "with ease" despite the new American policy on crude oil imports, Trade Minister Hees said today. He said some increase in Canadian exports to the U.S. has been agreed on.

His statement followed 1½ days of discussion with United States authorities—chiefly on Canadian exports to areas east of the Rocky Mountains where the crude competes with the American producers.

Mr. Hees declined to give any specific figures on whether Canadian exports will be limited to this area but he said the delegations "discussed the range of exports to the U.S. for the first six months of 1963."

Then there would be another meeting. An increase had been agreed on in a certain range and he expressed confidence that the Canadian industry will not suffer.

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fleming said today he has "given no such instructions whatsoever" for RCMP investigations into the political activities of students and faculty members at Canadian universities.

New Relay Satellite Has Heart Troubles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A newly-launched Relay communications satellite with a Canadian-designed electronics heart showed signs of trouble with its power supply today. The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration said its first report from the eight-sided satellite indicated its power "may be a little lower than normal."

As a result, NASA announced in Washington it is postponing radio communication tests between the United States and Europe that had been planned for the fifth and sixth orbits of the satellite today.

Instead, further tests and receptions of telemetry data by the space agency's test station at Nutley, N.J., will be made at that time. Those tests, the agency said, will check the preliminary indications about the power supply.

PARIS (Reuters)—European tracking stations today picked up signals from Relay, the new telecommunications satellite.

The sloop Leonede arrived today from Bantnick Arm and Queen Charlotte Islands with 16 passengers. There were five miners from the Queen Charlotte Copper mine which has suspended operations for the winter. The ship stopped at Fort Rupert and Nanaimo.

The steamer Thames towed the brig Sheet Anchor into Ross Bay this morning in an effort to bring the cargo of the wrecked ship Rosedale into port. Upon the arrival of the two ships, it was evident that there was such a heavy ground swell running, the operation would have to wait until tomorrow.

A three-year-old child was picked up by city police near James Bay Bridge this morning and taken to police barracks as the parents have not been contacted.

A sailor belonging to the crew of HMS Devastation was locked up today by Sergeant Blake on a charge of desertion.

Bandits Get $10,000

MONTREAL (CP)—Two policemen were killed and two wounded today by the withering fire of four bandits who held up the Cote de Liesse branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in suburban St. Laurent.

One of the bandits was dressed as Santa Claus. The others wore masks. Unconfirmed reports said the four got away with about $10,000.

There were reports that the bandits fired on the injured policemen before escaping in a white sedan.

The getaway car cut wildly across a nearby field, churning up snow, mud and grass.

It was believed none of the bandits was injured.

BLOCK ROADS

The dead policemen were identified as Claude Martineau, 40, and Denis Brabant, 31.

Provincial and St. Laurent police set up road blocks and blocked all bridges at the west end of Montreal island.

The bandits entered the bank about 11 a.m. An alarm system was set off.

One employee said the Santa Claus bandit was in the vault, attempting to clean it of money. A second bandit was at the tills and a third held off employees at gunpoint. The fourth was the lookout man standing just outside the bank.

The three inside the bank were either tipped by the lookout or heard the two police cars drive up.

One of the three dived through a window—through a venetian blind, glass and a wire screen. The other two raced outside to join the lookout.

Times News Services
LONDON—Millionaire Nubar Gulbenkian acknowledged Thursday that he had failed to cash a government cheque for £2 ($6), thereby upsetting the royal courts of justice.

"Instead of cashing it," said the bearded oil magnate, "I've framed it. I want to keep the cheque as a reminder of my victory."

Last July, Gulbenkian won a lawsuit against the BBC. He said the BBC had promised him a tele-recording of an interview with him. He said he had told BBC he wanted no money for the interview—just the tele-recording.

After a lengthy hearing, the court awarded Gulbenkian £ damages, but ordered him to pay the costs of the case, estimated at £10,000 ($30,000). The BBC was allowed to keep the recording.

The pay office wrote Gulbenkian asking him to cash the cheque. The millionaire replied that he wanted it for a souvenir. The pay office offered him a copy.

"I told them a copy wouldn't be the same as the original," said Gulbenkian.

With a note of frustration in his voice, the pay office spokesman said: "If the matter's not cleared up by the end of February when we balance our books, well, goodness knows what'll happen."

Picking a cigar ash from the orchid he wears in his coat lapel every day, Gulbenkian commented:

"I am not impressed. The cheque stays on the wall."

NASSAU, Bahamas—Most Cubans who flee their homes contend that Fidel Castro is losing favor among their countrymen. They often have elaborate explanations as to why.

But the latest group, 12 men who docked Thursday at Nassau Point, Andros Island, offered a simpler version. One of them said Castro lost half his support when the Russian troops began arriving. The reason he gave:

"The Russians took all the rum."

DORTHAN, Ala.—A Dorthan radio announcer, Sonny Harris, reported for work and turned on the transmitter at Station WOLF.

"Cats began bouncing off the walls," he said.

About 10 cats had found an opening in the station and snuggled up among the transformers Thursday morning to escape the 7-degree temperatures outside, Harris figured.

The shock killed three of the cats and the others beat a hasty retreat.

DENVER—Linda Jane Hinchman is a freshman at Colorado Women's College here. She is a lovely brunette, 17 years old, from Glenwood, Ind.

She was taking a bath in preparation for the evening meal Thursday night when she decided to stick her toe into the water faucet.

It got stuck.

A distress call brought four Denver squad cars with sirens screaming, fire equipment and ladder crews.

Five Denver firemen charged up the stairs and dashed into the bathroom, by now crowded with giggling girls as well as the well-bundled Miss Hinchman.

Assistant Fire Chief John de Jong said: "We did our job and got out of there."

The firemen sawed off the faucet and extricated the toe with petroleum jelly.

LONDON—Among firms invited Thursday to attend a conference based on the theme, "More productivity, more prosperity," were maternity homes and undertakers.

VANCOUVER—A father was summoned Thursday to pick up his 13-year-old son who was discovered drunk on the street.

monies and Ira Hill, chairman of the parking commission which will run the civic garages, both paid tribute to Ald. Michael Griffin as the catalyst that made the project move.

Both Ald. Griffin and ex-Mayor Percy Scurren, who fought hard for civic parking facilities before his retirement last year, were unable to attend the ceremony but their wives joined the guests of honor.

After a motorcade—led by Mrs. Wyatt—drove through the building, the facility opened for business.

It will be open until 10 p.m. and will stay open during regular and late shopping hours, accommodating 150 cars.

When fully completed, the facility will park 400 cars. A "sister garage" will be built at Langley and Yates in the spring.

It is expected that most stores and professional offices in the area will validate parking tickets to provide free parking for their customers and clients.

Vote Called Tribute to Council

The precinct bylaw victory brought praise from a cross-section of community leaders including the three Reeves.

Saanich Reeve Stanley Murphy said the vote was a tribute to city council and its planning department. Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said it will "liven up the whole city centre."

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said it was gratifying that the centre of Greater Victoria would be improved.

"The Reeves and councillors of Greater Victoria had a look at the plan earlier and my council thought it was a very good project, beautifully got up by Rod Clark," said Reeve Wurtele.

Chamber of Commerce president John Wallace said "It's certainly going to be the greatest thing for Victoria within the past decade, if not longer."

Capital Region Planning Board director A. H. Roberts said he hoped the precinct would be the first of a number of steps to improve the city.

Owen Karn, president of the Silver Threads Service, said the bylaw's passage "undoubtedly will result in a senior citizens' centre being constructed" in the precinct to serve the 25,000 persons over 60 in the Greater Victoria area.

BANDITS

standard issue for the Canadian Army.

The policemen in the first car were unable to get out before they were shot.

The two police cars were riddled with bullets as the bandits ran for their getaway car.

One of the bandits is reported to have made his way to a nearby hotel, telephoning for a taxi from there.

Teller Sandra Allison said she was in the main vault when the men, dressed as Santa Claus, appeared at the main door of the bank.

"He yelled 'This is a holdup' and ordered everyone to lie on the floor. There were seven employees and seven to 10 customers in the bank."

"I lay down in the vault. The Santa Claus bandit came in and started putting money into a leather bag. Outside another man, wearing a hood, was rifling a teller's cage. He was putting money into a white pillow case."

"Another teller managed to trip the alarm."

"As the police cars came up the man who had been rifling the cage fled through a rear kitchen of the bank and dived through a window."

It is believed this is the man who later reached a hotel and telephoned for a taxi. The Santa Claus bandit ran to the front of the bank and then joined the lookout bandit.

The first police car was an ambulance car. The two officers were so quickly fired on that one died in the seat of the car.

The second, wounded, fell from the car and was shot again by the bandits before they fled. He died on the way to hospital. The two officers in the second car were also fired on as they drove up.

such a superiority would not necessarily be itself deter less-violent communist political and subversive acts.

He argued military power must include effective non-nuclear forces which could be quickly concentrated where needed.

He said the Cuban crisis had shown the U.S. conventional land, sea and air forces in the area were superior and capable of destroying the Soviet missiles on Cuba.

He said that since the Cuban conflict was not vital to Russia's survival, Moscow had not been prepared to use nuclear power.

The most significant aspect of the Cuban crisis was that U.S. forces with the "cutting edge" were non-nuclear ones," he said. The nuclear power was in the background.

McNamara said that at present force levels, a surprise attack by massive Communist conventional forces in eastern Europe could succeed temporarily unless nuclear weapons were used.

He estimated NATO would need about 60 divisions by 20 days from the beginning of such an attack and described the planned NATO target of 30 divisions as a minimum requirement.

NATO at present has 24 divisions on the central European sector.

FINAL APPEARANCE

Making his final appearance before the NATO ministers, Norstad defended the policy of a "forward defence" which he said was vital in order to meet one of NATO's main aims—that of preserving the territorial integrity of all members.

He said the previous strategy of immediate withdrawal upon attack to prepared positions invited aggression.

Norstad made three basic points about the present state of the alliance:

1. The ground forces requirements approved by the military committee, namely 30 divisions in the central sector, were the minimum acceptable.

2. The NATO military committee had "affirmed the need to satisfy targeting requirements in Europe." He linked this to the need for a medium-range ballistic missile force in Europe.

3. No attempts should be made to lay down a time scale providing what weapon was used at what time.

Farm Workers in Florida
Fight to Save Fruit Crop

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Harvest hands abandoned winter-killed Florida vegetable farms and streamed into the citrus groves today in a frantic effort to salvage something from the state's worst freeze since 1889.

A prospect of rising temperatures became a threat now that cold from the Arctic has frozen their oranges and grapefruit. Their hope lay in a quick harvest of some of the citrus to convert to juice before relaxation of the cold wave deteriorated the frozen fruit.

Temperatures were expected to go as low as -17-degrees today, with warming forecast to night.

State Agriculture Commissioner Doyle E. Conner said ice had formed in 75 to 100 per cent of citrus in Florida except

Britain Stirred Up Over Skybolt Fiasco

LONDON (Reuters)—The Skybolt missile debate took top spot in British newspapers again today with reports from Paris that the United States had offered to let Britain take over development of the missile alone.

Authoritative sources in Paris said Thursday night U.S. defence Secretary Robert McNamara told the British they could go it alone on development of the costly missile or take delivery of Polaris submarine missiles or Hound Dog medium-range missiles instead.

The outcome will have a crucial effect on the existence and form of any British independent nuclear deterrent, which for the last two years has been keyed to the Skybolt air-launched missile.

"The Skybolt fiasco (cont'd)... we don't want it, you can have it... go it alone, says U.S.", was the six-column front page banner on The Daily Herald.

"It is possible Britain may have to fall back on Blue Streak, the long-range missile she discarded nearly three years ago," the paper says, noting the Blue Streak was cancelled in April 1960 because former president Eisenhower promised Britain the Skybolt.

The Herald reminds its readers the Blue Streak program has been kept going in a "civilian" role as the first-stage launcher of a joint European satellite program.

No Bloodstain Found In Room of Accused

Circumstances surrounding the arrest of Peter Howard Dootson, charged with attempted murder of a colleague at the Wilkinson Road Mental Home Oct. 19, were related in Saanich police court Thursday.

Dootson was arrested at 8 p.m. Oct. 20, 42 hours after Robert Robinson, 64, was found beaten and burned on the floor of his smoke-filled room at the staff house of the provincial mental hospital.

The accused had been taken to Saanich police station about 4 p.m. Oct. 20, after a thorough search had been made of his room.

The search failed to reveal any bloodstained clothing or an iron bar with which it was believed the victim was bludgeoned, court was told.

The hearing was adjourned until Dec. 20.

Crowning the Centennial

VICTORIA HAS CROWNED ITS centennial observance in the most fitting way possible. The four-to-one vote for the city hall precinct and square not only marks overwhelming approval of a monument to the past but is an impressive symbol of this capital's renewed vitality.

As the city embarks on its second century, it has demonstrated the will to overcome obsolescence and decay at its core. From the city hall precinct Victoria no doubt will proceed to further renovation and improvement that should guarantee a sound and pulsing heart for the whole of the community. That apparently is the conviction not only of Mayor Wilson, whose first year in office has been so suitably recognized by the voters, but by the reeves of the adjoining municipalities. They realize that the economic health of Greater Victoria depends on the soundness and progressiveness of the downtown region.

The voters have emerged from the lethargy, doubt and hesitation of the pre-Scurrah years and are determined to make this capital at once attractive and vital. The attitude of the public, no less than the actual physical amenities which will be created, is of particular significance.

With the project endorsed so fully, it was natural that the citizens would put back in office the men who, as part of a unanimous council, had given the scheme wholehearted support. Congratulations are extended to Aldermen Austin Curtis, A. W. Toone and Arthur Dowell, whose popularity placed them at the top of the poll in that order—and a warm welcome is accorded Alderman-elect Cecil Parrott, who has indicated clearly his sympathy for policies which his seniors have laid down.

It would have been better, of course, if more of those entitled to vote had marked their ballots. Less than a third of the enfranchised citizens is not an imposing total. It is doubtful, however, if the outcome would have been perceptibly different had a full 100 per cent turned out.

All in all the results of yesterday's polling give every encouragement to those who wish to see Victoria forge ahead into its new century with vision, imagination and a liveliness which promise attainment and vigor for uncounted years to come.

Let Us Keep Our Heads

WHEN MR. MACMILLAN AND Mr. Kennedy are preparing to meet as allies and personal friends Canadians should keep the current disagreements between Britain and the United States in perspective.

Certainly the disagreements look serious. But to say, as some Canadian journalists are saying, that the United States is deliberately trying to weaken and humiliate Britain is to assume that President Kennedy has taken leave of his senses and is bent on the destruction of the free world. That seems improbable.

The immediate dispute concerns the future of the Skybolt missile. The United States agreed to build it and Britain to buy it. All Britain's independent nuclear strategy was based on this weapon but the United States, after spending huge sums to develop it, finds the Skybolt unsatisfactory under test.

Apparently it is regarded as a scientific failure and the American government proposes to scrap it. The British government is represented as believing that with the expenditure of a few more billion American dollars the Skybolt can be perfected.

These are technical questions on which the opinions of laymen are quite useless. But in some sections of the British and Canadian press it is suggested that the United States is deliberately wrecking Britain's whole defence program. This is to say that the United States is wrecking its own defence program and imperiling its own safety which depends on the co-operation of its allies, the chief of which is Britain.

We are asked to believe that American high policy is based on idiocy.

President Kennedy and Mr. Macmillan, the two statesmen most directly involved, show no signs of such hysteria. They know, none better, that while every alliance in history has always been subject to disputes and strains, Britain and the United States are essential to each other, militarily, politically, and in every other way. As in former cases, the Skybolt argument, we may be sure, will be settled. The settlement will not be helped by hysterical utterances in Canada and the breast-beating of childish anti-Americanism.

Canadians would be wise to remember another thing: The policy of the American government is fixed by the actual decision of the President, not by the speeches of men around him, whose advice he often rejects.

In a free society the President cannot control the public statements of friend or enemy, however he may regret them. Continual excursions and alarms are part of the price that must be paid for democracy and frequent mistakes are another part of the price. Only in a dictatorship like that of Russia can these things be hidden.

No doubt Mr. Khrushchev, with many secret troubles of his own, finds some comfort in a transatlantic family argument but he is too sensible to count much on it. He knows (as Bismarck once said) that the English-speaking peoples are united by history, instinct and necessity.

Have We Learned Yet?

HAVING NOTICED THE DENTAL advantages to be gained by living in parts of Britain where nature has provided adequate fluoride salts in the drinking water, the British government has now decided to give the whole population the same benefits.

The proportion of fluoride missing in some water supplies will be brought up to the required level of one part per million—and tooth decay in young Britons will drop by 50 per cent or better as it has in every community where this step has been taken.

British Health Minister Powell says: "There is no reason why any part of the country should be excluded from its advantages," and adds that he is "completely satisfied that the scruples held by some people about fluoridation were unfounded and groundless."

In publicizing such sentiments, Mr. Powell echoes the opinions of medical and dental authorities in many parts of the world—and particularly those of North America.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the community of Metropolitan Toronto voted in favor of fluoridation a few days ago and the more than one million residents of the area will soon have the benefits of this measure. It will cost about 10 cents per year per person.

These steps, and others like them, will not, of course, make converts of the people who bring a fanatical zeal to their rejection of fluoridation. But the many reasonable Greater Victorians who have confidence in the advice of their doctors and dentists may be moved to want the advantages of fluoridation for themselves and their families. It is noteworthy that the areas of Metropolitan Toronto which voted most heavily in favor of the step were those which include large numbers of young families. Can it be unwillingness to spend 10 cents a year for the children which prompts the opposition of older residents?

The main question for Greater Victoria is embraced in Mr. Powell's comment on fluoridation. How long is this community to be "excluded from its advantages"? Must we carry into our second century the medical and dental ignorance of 100 years ago?

Quart of Oil for a Punk

WHAT DO YOU DO WHEN A couple of hoods catch you alone in a gas station and try to force you to open the cash register?

Most men would hope they had the courage to handle the situation as Bert Carson did—though it wasn't what some consider the smart thing to do.

When two of a masked trio tried to herd him into the office telling him to "do as you're told and you won't get hurt," Bert, a spy 36, asked "And what the hell makes you think I'm going to get hurt?" before hitting one of them over the head with a quart-bottle filled with oil.

The would-be hoods fled, after one had struck him with what appeared to be a saved-off gun and the attendant received hospital attention for cuts and bruises.

We salute a man who wouldn't be pushed around by three punks—and hope that any future assaults by young hoodlums will be met with a similar response.

"... This may hurt a little ..."

THE DISTANT VIEW

Talk While Waiting for a Visitor

WELL, companions, it is very nearly time.

"Yes, it will be at its closest very soon now."

"We must make our final decision."

"Will ten seconds be enough?"

"Yes, we shall have the chronometer review the history of the whole project and the datagram assess the current situation. That should take less than a second. Then we can form our judgment within the next few seconds—and have plenty of time to act."

"Yes, I shall enjoy finding out what I think."

"This may turn out to be one of the most important decisions we have ever made. It could change the whole course of our story."

"That is so. It is fortunate that we have achieved infallibility in our judgment."

"Yes, it would be terrible to have to guess at a time like this."

"I wonder what those others are really like—the ones that sent it?"

"We have fairly complete superficial

information, although it is difficult to believe it."

"Yes. It is fantastic to think of creatures of such a form as our detection implies. Four protruding limbs, an unprotected blob for a sense container, and the most rudimentary of perceptive organs. Utterly unbelievable!"

"Still, we must accept the evidence of the detectors however bizarre it may seem. They, too, are infallible."

"It will be time for the chronometer very soon now. But even the information we already have indicates a very crude level of thought. Our youngest progeny would have done as much."

"True. Yet I find it hard to accept that a population consisting of only our youngest progeny could survive. Not, that is to say, without most unfortunate events happening continually."

"This, no doubt, is what occurs there. Without chronometers and datagrams even we would falter at times."

"But operating without infallibility! It is difficult to hold this thought for long. It is a wonder they have achieved even this effort."

"Yes. It speaks well for their ambition. And they have at least activated us to consider them. We should never have bothered to spend nearly three seconds on them if it had not been for this venture."

"It is the intentions that amuse me. Trying to determine temperatures, magnetic fields, moisture content—such primitive curiosities!"

"Let us be tolerant. Remember they are much farther from the Sol Orb than we are, and so lack the wave intensity which we enjoy."

"Yes. We must be tolerant. But I shudder to think what must be the conditions there—the errors, the repetitions, the turmoil and upsets. And the unbelievable wastage of life."

"It is sorrowful. But of course, at that level, they probably have no feelings, no sensitivity. Although I have not tried to find out what I think, I suspect they are something like our individual primi-cells—almost mechanical, in fact."

"This could be true. But now it is time for the review and the assessment."

"Of course it may not matter much whether or not we permit this Mariner machine to detect us. The Earth creatures can do little with the information."

"Attention, companions. In one eighth of a second we shall activate the chronometer. Please remain fully submerged at whatever point on Venus you may be, and concentrate your senses . . ."

Tourist Trapping

At the risk of being repetitious: we are still being bombarded constantly with statistics on tourists, methods and suggestions on how to keep the average tourist (middle aged, in couples, average income $7,500 to $12,000) here longer, make them spend more money. In short, trap them and keep them trapped until they are bled dry.

If B.C. was not so potentially wealthy and rich in natural resources it might not be so repulsive.

The situation is comparable to a man with a beautiful wife, fine children and a million dollar stand of timber, who, rather than set up a logging operation, sends his children out to beg.

Shocking Testimony

One has often heard unsavory things about what goes on in mental institutions, but I think most people believe that such tales are just exaggerations. Nobody could really do such things and remain on a government payroll.

However, after reading the sworn testimony of employees at the Wilkinson Road Mental Home, it is obvious that what we have previously heard about such institutions was really only half the truth. Is it possible that the British Columbia Health Department will permit this sort of things to continue? If it will result in a thorough investigation and a complete cleanout then the terrible suffering of Mr. Robinson will not have been all in vain.

Modern Art

In a recent letter to the Times Oct. 26, Clarence S. Goode, F.R.S.A., quotes at length from Pablo Picasso's confession in the "Mercury" 1957, in which Picasso condemns and castigates modern art, and those who dedicate themselves to the ugly and claim it is the rediscovery of true beauty.

Prof. Emery replied to this letter questioning the authority of the original confession and doubting that Picasso ever made it. There is, however, existent much evidence to confirm the ideas expressed in that confession and I am sure your readers would appreciate knowing of such evidence.

Salvador Dali in his book on "Modern Art" refers to and quotes Picasso at length in his criticisms of the trends of modern art. In a lecture at the Sorbonne he openly includes Picasso as supporting him in his views (both are close friends and Spaniards), and says "How right and necessary that Picasso and myself should come to Paris from time to time to place the raw truth (about art) before you." He then proceeds to lampoon what he calls "antiquated modern art" including Picasso's.

Again in his book Dali discusses those "Painters dedicated to the ugly," and then says "Picasso unlike the others went in for it (the ugly) on purpose, thus cuckolding those dithyrambic critics who claim the rediscovery of true beauty." He then follows this up by stating that "Picasso was out uglying the ugly of all others, in order to finish off modern art with one blow."

He refers to a conversation he had with Picasso in which the latter said "None of the panegyrists of his grey cubism had ever been able to see what his paintings represented." He speaks of Picasso as "the king of them all" in outdoing others in ugliness, and calls Picasso's "Reclining Nude" just "pure bestiality."

Dali openly states that he and Picasso have the "same ideas of what beauty represents" and that all that "remains for them both to do is to turn our eyes once more to Raphael." Here is a union of ideas as of close friends speaking with one voice and joining hands in denouncing the ugly, sensational, and scandalous, believing that by increasing and distributing it more widely, this would in itself, bear the seed of its own destruction and extinction.

Infallibility?

In this "politically" scar-faced old world, it must be both delightful and refreshing for the electorate of British Columbia to learn over the radio and through the press how it, the electorate, can keep the best government British Columbia ever had safe on the plane of perpetuity.

The aspiring candidate for the by-election of Point Grey must feel gratified at the support of the so-called Social Credit league, so anxious to increase the numbers of their now "affluent" club.

The eternal reiteration over the radio of "your" Social Credit government could give pause for wonder if there could possibly be the slightest doubt as to their—the so-called Social Crediters—own infallibility?

Apathy and Incorporation

How apathetic can people get? One answer is given by the number of eligible voters that fail to take advantage of their voting privilege.

Apathy is also one of the reasons why all levels of government in one country are so uninspiring.

Turning to the local scene, and the recent Saanich elections: A very dangerous situation exists for property owners in certain areas of this municipality; particularly those who have property in the Mt. Tolmie, Cadboro Bay, Queenswood, Ten Mile Point and Gordon Head districts. These areas represent the greatest source of residential taxation in Saanich. I believe the only member at council who resides in this area, is the reeve.

So a situation that might well happen, is that much of the revenue from taxpayers of these prime areas could be spent on schemes wholly beneficial to residents living elsewhere in the municipality.

The time is long overdue for property owners in the above areas to try to obtain incorporation with Oak Bay. Except for Gordon Head, which is geographically ill placed, incorporation would be an easy matter to arrange once the legal hurdles had been overcome.

Just Santa Claus

The item in the Times of November 30, page 2: "Dutch Gift Giving Tonight" must have made the wrong impression on all who are not familiar with Santa Claus in Holland—and the one day in the year there for everybody to celebrate in his own way.

Whatever the origin of Santa may have been centuries ago, Santa Claus in Holland has nothing whatever to do with churchianity; that is left to the propaganda of X-mas.

The children, and half-grownups make a list of what they would like to get the night of December 5th. Their parents or guardians do what they can to fulfill those wishes and fill their stockings or hide said gifts in another way; the small tots get theirs the morning of December 6.

I remember very well that at one time all I asked for was permission to buy myself a small shotgun. I and other children, whose parents were in the then Dutch East Indies, lived with the mayor of a small town and his wife, since schools in the Indies were very scarce and far between at that time.

Those gifts are no X-mas gifts, but pure Santa Claus ones.

"I KNOW A GOOD PLACE WHERE YOU CAN HIDE MY PRESENTS. SO I CAN'T FIND EM!"

FROM PARIS:

The Urgent Problem

By JOSEPH ALSOP

THERE are exceptions, it seems, to the rule that nothing succeeds like success. At any rate, the President's great success in Cuba has only succeeded in complicating the American problem of leadership of the Western Alliance. This is not to say that our allies were not properly impressed by the adroitness, courage, and wisdom that marked the U.S. government's management of the Cuban crisis. On the contrary, it is known that Gen. de Gaulle, for instance, was impressed to the point of radically revising his entire estimate of the Kennedy administration.

The old notions that the American government was either irresolute or trigger-happy, or both at once, have been largely banished by the Cuban episode. But that improvement by no means cancels out the unfavorable after-effects.

These flow from two sources. On the one hand, even those Europeans who are shrewd enough to see that the fearful Cuban risks would have been fearfully multiplied by consultation with our allies, have been instinctively shocked by the fact that the allied governments were not consulted.

On the other hand, this non-consultation with our allies in the first great crisis involving a serious risk of an H-bomb exchange has vastly inflamed the already painful question of control of the West's nuclear power. The British and French, in particular, are saying that Cuba only goes to show that they cannot permanently tolerate the virtual American monopoly of nuclear power in the West.

The inflammation has been rendered much more acute by the U.S. Defence Department's brusque decision to drop the "Skybolt" missile, which alone gave some color of power and reality to the British nuclear deterrent. The "Skybolt" matter, which is being re-examined, is particularly instructive.

Wholly Dependent

In brief, the "Independent" British deterrent is in fact wholly dependent on this weapon of American design. Furthermore, the British are unable or unwilling to foot the bill if the Americans decide they do not want "Skybolt" and therefore cease to pay the lion's share of the development costs.

The French nuclear deterrent, by the same token, is now proudly announced as coming into being. But in its first form, it will be composed of "Mirage" bombers carrying free-falling atomic bombs of rather low kilotonnage.

The American experience with the Soviet anti-aircraft missiles in Cuba has now revealed that the Russian anti-aircraft defences are even more formidable than had been supposed—which means that the "Mirages" would have hardly any chance of reaching Soviet targets.

Reportedly, the French are making important progress in rocketry. Yet the present condition of the French and British nuclear deterrents is certainly the opposite of impressive. Nonetheless, as wise and pro-American a Frenchman as Raymond Aron continues to insist that "the American nuclear monopoly, combined with the rule of non-consultation, finally reduces the European states to the condition of American protectorates."

The way out of the dilemma which Aron long ago proposed is a European deterrent, which would have an adequate economic base. There is some support for Aron's idea in Washington. But at the moment, discussion of ways to escape from the dilemma is less useful than recognition that the dilemma is real and urgent.

After Cuba, the view expressed by Aron has a strong grip on our European allies. It is quite clear in fact that none of the other urgent Western problems, such as the need for more ground forces in NATO, can finally be resolved until the problem of the nuclear relationship has been resolved. The job has to be done somehow. For the problem will only grow uglier if it continues to be neglected.

TOO COOL

My father never attempted to take part in my education. Once, when my mother suggested that, for some offence or other, he should beat me, he merely said that he couldn't be bothered. I suppose I ought to have been grateful to him, but I remember feeling a little offended by his lack of interest.

Dec. 14, 1902 — Ladysmith, B.C. The general store of Simon Leiser and Co. Ltd. burned to the ground today at 4 p.m. Spontaneous combustion is believed to be the cause. Total damage is estimated at $1,000.

Dec. 14, 1922 — Victoria electors braved wintry weather yesterday to go to the polls and roll up the largest majority ever registered here against a retiring mayor when they elected Reginald Hayward by over 3,500 votes.

Dec. 14, 1942 — Sailors in the Victoria district will receive no more pay before Christmas although RCAF and Army units will.

Incumbents Returned In Low-Key Election

Climax of a quiet city election campaign brought little surprise when votes were counted Thursday night.

The three incumbents—Ald.

A. I. Côtis, Ald. A. W. Toone and Ald. Arthur Dowell—were returned easily by margins far out in front of the other four candidates.

Cecil Parrott made it on his third bid by taking 2,669 votes to win the fourth seat at stake. Only surprise was the poor showing of Elmer McEwen—former city alderman who said he hopes some day to be mayor—who barely escaped being lost in the poll. He joined losers Robert Baird and Victor Williams.

In the contest for two school trustee seats veteran E. M. Maunsell scored an easy win and 32-year-old stores petty officer H. Lloyd Clarkson took the second seat in his first bid for office. Beaten-out was incumbent Ralph Fryer.

BALLOONISTS RETURN SAFELY

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE, N.M. (UPI) Two men returned gently to earth in a balloon today after rising 80,000 feet into the sky to look at the stars twinkle.

Air Force Capt. Joseph W. Kittinger Jr., and astronomer William C. White landed their project Star-gazer balloon 40 miles west of Deming, N.M., after their 18½-hour historic trip to the threshold of space.

The men were picked up immediately by helicopter and returned to the base for debriefing. They had two-way radio contact throughout the flight.

White said the expedition was a success. The naval astronomer said he took two good fixes on stars, the primary experiment in the project, and considered the 16-mile-high trip was everything he and project officials had hoped for.

'White Sheep' Continues Tonight at 8

St. Matthias Little Theatre group will present its fourth performance of the comedy "White Sheep of the Family" in the church hall at Richmond and Richardson tonight at 8 and tickets may be bought at the door.

The play by Ian Hay and L. de Garde Peach is packed with laughter-raising incidents and the dialogue sparkles from beginning to end.

Basil Issigonis has a large share in the laughter in co-operation with Frank Allen, Dorts Exton, John Poulton, Jo Pepper, John Richards and Barbara Brown.

FIRST RATE

Jennifer Allen contributes a first-rate piece of character acting and director Anthony Burton keeps the action moving at a brisk pace.

As in many English comedies, the hilarious situations which make up this delightful comedy are chiefly concerned with crooks. But they provide lots of honest fun.

The final performance will be on Saturday at 8 p.m.

Woman Fined For Stealing Potted Palm

Mrs. Veronica Jessop, 389 Viaduct, was fined $50 in city police court Thursday for stealing from a downtown department store a compact, two thermos flasks and a potted palm.

Store detectives at T. Eaton Co. Ltd., Douglas Street, testified they had followed Mrs. Jessop through various departments in the store while she took the articles.

She claimed in court she intended returning to pay for the flasks and plant. She already had paid for the compact, she said.

The accused was seen to take $1.35 compact which she hid under a parcel she was carrying until going to a lower floor on an escalator. At this point she placed the compact in her handbag.

She also was seen taking a thermos from the hardware department which she transferred to a shopping bag in another section. Later, she returned for another which she concealed the same way, detectives said.

The flasks were valued at $2.40 each.

Finally she took a potted palm worth 89 cents from the garden department.

She was apprehended at the Government Street exit of the store.

Moss Recovered

LONDON (Reuters) — British racing ace Stirling Moss said today he is leaving for South Africa Sunday to watch the finals of the world auto racing championships there. Moss left St. Thomas's Hospital in London Thursday after a minor eye operation to cure any remnants of double vision following his serious crash on an English track last Easter.

Freedomites Hold Back On Offer of Relocation

Not one Son of Freedom Doukhobor has yet accepted the B.C. government's offer of relocation, deputy welfare minister E. R. Rickinson said today.

But he is hopeful.

Notices have been posted at the camp of 1,300 Freedomites near Hope and at the local Post Office; advertisements of the offer are appearing in Vancouver newspapers.

The ads will run for three days, Mr. Rickinson said.

But the government offer, announced Wednesday, to re-establish Freedomite families anywhere in Canada, is indefinite.

No specific sites have been selected, Mr. Rickinson said the welfare department will pay transportation anywhere the Freedomites ask.

One area suggested by groups trying to help the Free-domites is the Omineca country around Burns Lake in north central B.C.

It is better land for farming than the Freedomites' old Kootenay community of Krestova and it is sparsely settled.

A dozen Freedomites questioned at Hope would not admit the relocation plan was finding any favor.

They said they wanted to continue communal life.

Mr. Rickinson said the welfare department's offer was not for group settlement, only for individuals or families. Any who accept, he said, would get free transportation, welfare allowances and the regular "treatment" accorded all welfare recipients.

'CUT-IT-YOURSELF' Shuffle Asked NEW SCOUT PLAN In Rural Representation

CAMPBELL RIVER—Local Boy Scouts have come up with a novel approach to their sale of Christmas trees.

Elk Falls Co. recently de-

nated the use of land to the Scouts for the harvest and sale of the Christmas trees. Mindful that many persons like to make the excursions into the woods to select their own trees, Scouts are selling permits to those interested. This entitles the holder to cut the Christmas tree of his choice on the tree farm land. For others less ambitious, Scouts will sell the trees as usual on supermarket parking lots.

CAMPBELL RIVER—A contract has been awarded by the village for grubbing, clearing and grading at the municipal airport.

Work will be done by L & H Logging whose bid of $17,775 was lowest of five for the job.

Fire Losses Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's forest fire losses this year were the second lowest on record, the federal forestry department reported Wednesday.

Queen's Scout Badge Awarded Duncan Youth

DUNCAN—Fifteen-year-old Allan Waddy received his Queen Scout Badge from district commissioner Rodney Grattan at a ceremony this week in the presence of the Second Duncan Scout Troop.

Allan, a grade nine student at Quamichan Junior Secondary School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Waddy, Beverley Street.

The Queen Scout, who has been connected with scouting for the past seven years, will be presented with his parchment at the annual ceremony at Government House in Victoria next April.

V.I. ROUNDUP

College Sought At Sidney To Teach Trades

SIDNEY—Establishment of a community vocational training college in Sidney will be investigated by trustees of Saanich School District No. 63.

Decision to look into the matter was taken after Capt. Jack Rowton told a board meeting that B.C. lagged in technical training.

The type of college the board has in mind is one which would provide training on apprenticeship level for students in Saanich, Sooke and Greater Victoria School District.

Capt. Rowton said he had been seeking some form of vocational training for years.

"We are in the middle of another industrial revolution right now," he stated. "We can't afford to wait years before such a scheme is operating."

He warned that the threat of automation has brought its influence to schools everywhere and that students must be offered adequate technical education in order to find employment afterwards.

"Education is still set up on academic lines," he noted. "We are still suffering from intellectual snobbery in our schools."

He said the department of education must be convinced of the need for a properly established vocational course.

DUNCAN—An 11-year-old boy is reported in serious condition in King's Daughters' Hospital today after he was in collision with a car driven by Louis Williams, Duncan, Thursday afternoon.

Eric Lundgren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Lundgren, of North Island Highway, was riding his bicycle on the Trans-Canada Highway, 2½ miles north of Duncan, when the accident took place.

DUNCAN—The local Junior Chamber of Commerce is getting better results this year in its annual Christmas lighting contest.

It was reported at their last general meeting that there are twice as many commercial enterprises entered compared to last year.

Private householders will be canvassed for the contest on Dec. 18; judging will take place Dec. 21 for commercial entries and Dec. 23 for residential sections.

Immediate past president Jack Proslowski stated that there are four trophies available this year, and merchants in the Duncan shopping plaza and the B.C. Hydro Power Authority have donated prizes.

DUNCAN—Charged with arson, Vernon Reginald Craig of Shawnigan Lake district, was remanded without plea in police court Thursday after he elected to be tried by a judge and a jury on a charge of arson.

A tentative date for a preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 21. Craig is accused of having set fire Nov. 23 to the house of George T. H. McLeod.

GANGES—Gulf Island schedule for Bellingham Junior Chamber of Commerce international goodwill Christmas Cruise is as follows: Dec. 23, leave Sidney at 7 a.m., arrive at Ganges, 9:15 a.m.; leave Ganges, 9:45 a.m., arrive Mayne, 10:45 a.m.; leave Mayne, 11 a.m., arrive Galliano, 11:15 a.m.; leave Galliano, 11:40 a.m., arrive North Pender, 12:30 p.m.; leave North Pender, 1 p.m., arrive Saturna, 1:30 p.m.; leave Saturna, 2 p.m.

ORANGE BOX DRIVE SET

DUNCAN—The annual orange box drive will be held by the Fourth Duncan Scouts and Cubs on Dec. 22 and Jan. 5.

The boys are aiming for 1,000 boxes to be sold to local fruitgrowers. Proceeds will go towards their activities in the district.

St. Edward's Knights of Columbus sponsor the group who were responsible for originating the orange box drive in 1958.

RETURN OPEN VERDICT

LADYSMITH—An open verdict was returned by a coroner's jury which inquired into the death of Alvin McLeod of Port Alberni, and John Plavette of Nanaimo, both killed in an Aug. 14 two-car collision at Cedar Road and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Two of the five passengers injured in the Plavette vehicle are still in hospital.

The five men, all from Nanaimo, were returning from night shift at the Chemainus sawmill when the accident occurred.

'Outs' Preparing Pay Boost Drive

A new attempt will be made early next week to get pay increases for federal civil servants overlooked in wage boosts announced Monday.

Gordon Campbell, president of Victoria district council of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, said action on 16 civil service categories in which there will be no increase next month, is to be pressed in Ottawa.

The figure includes 14 categories for which increases were recommended by the civil service commission wage review board, plus two considered deserving by the federation.

Among the total are some of the lower categories such as grade II clerks and typists.

There are 3,500 federal civil servants in the Victoria district, many of whom will benefit by the increases announced this week.

They will receive cheques at the end of January for a lump sum covering the 16-month period dating back to October, 1961, when the increases were recommended.

Increases will be added to monthly cheques starting in February, Mr. Campbell said.

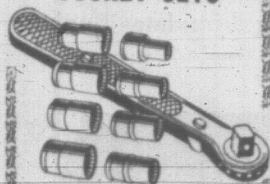

COMPARISON

Increases were recommended on the basis of comparison between civil service and outside employees' rates of pay.

The fact that certain categories were bypassed and others will get inadequate increases "points up the need for full negotiation with arbitration in the federal service," Mr. Campbell said.

CARLSON carries daughter

VOLUNTARILY U.S. Attache Leaves Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—Rodney W. Carlson, 30, assistant U.S. agricultural attaché accused by the Russians of dealing with a Russian spy, left the Soviet Union voluntarily today.

Soviet authorities accused Carlson of having contact with O. V. Penkovsky, a Russian scientific worker whose arrest was announced Tuesday.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said Carlson and his two infant children boarded a plane for Copenhagen this morning. His wife, on a brief holiday in Paris, is expected to meet her husband in Copenhagen.

Later on his arrival in the Danish capital, Carlson declined all comment about his expulsion.

No formal Soviet government charges against the Alcester, S.D., native have been made. The accusation so far has consisted only of statements in the official Soviet press.

GAVE NO REASON

The U.S. embassy did not give any reason for Carlson's departure, but it was understood the embassy felt his effectiveness as a diplomat here had been impaired.

It also was felt that his safety was in danger.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, had accused Carlson, another U.S. embassy staff member and a British businessman, of buying or receiving secret information from Penkovsky on scientific, technical, political and military matters.

The other American named was Richard Carl Jacob, 26, a secretary-archivist at the embassy expelled from the Soviet Union last month on spying charges.

The British businessman was Greville Wynne, arrested in Hungary Nov. 2 and now awaiting trial in Moscow on espionage charges.

SAYS CHARGES ABSURD

Jacob, now working in the state department in Washington, said he had never heard of Penkovsky and that Moscow's charges were absurd.

Neither the U.S. embassy nor the state department have made any comment on the Tass charge.

Carlson is the fourth man from the U.S. embassy to leave the Soviet Union because of spy charges. In addition to Jacob, the Russians in October expelled an assistant naval attaché, Cmdr. Raymond D. Smith, and a first secretary in the political reporting section, Kermit S. Midthun.

U.S. officials concluded that the explosion of Smith and Midthun was in retaliation for the American ouster of two members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations who were accused of buying military secrets from an American sailor.

CASTOR OIL PUNISHMENT

LA PLATA, Argentina (AP)—Police said Thursday they have arrested seven teenagers and uncovered a youthful gang blamed for a series of anti-Semitic attacks in the Buenos Aires area. The young men were said to possess autos, weapons and ammunitions and allegedly planned to set up a military training camp near La Plata. Punishment for any member who failed to obey orders was a dose of castor oil, police said.

Esquimalt Agrees To Hospital Grant

Esquimalt council has, in new nurses' home and a labor formally agreed to give about $12,750 towards the cost of the Royal Jubilee Hospital's expansion program.

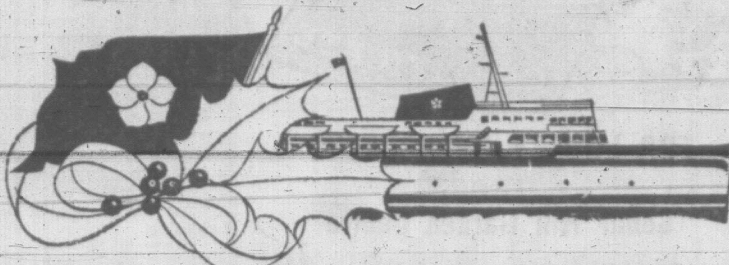

Councillors agreed on this after inspecting hospital facilities Thursday. Formal approval will have to be given at a council meeting.

Municipalities in Greater Victoria have been asked for $140,000 for construction of a

There is a fixed formula under which the municipalities share such costs and Reeve A. C. Wurtele estimated Esquimalt's portion as about $12,750.

Unlike St. Joseph's Hospital which has asked the public for funds, the Royal Jubilee is seeking money directly from the municipalities.

rebels out of the mountainous jungles of Brunei and the neighboring British protectorate of Sarawak.

By PETER SMARK

BRUNEI TOWN, Brunei (Reuters)—Brunei's sultan Sir Omar Ali Saifuddin today condemned the Brunei rebels at a press conference marking his first public appearance since a revolt broke out in his British-protected sultanate a week ago.

But the 47-year-old sultan, speaking to reporters with a revolver strapped to his hip, said he did not know the cause of the rebellion.

The press conference was held as RAF jet fighter planes joined commandos in a drive to smoke

The Hawker Hunter planes have orders to make only "dummy" attacks against the rebels who retreated into the jungles after their week-old revolt collapsed in the main centres of Brunei.

The sultan's press statement clears up doubts about his stand in the rebellion. The rebels have claimed he was supporting them against the British in their attempt to overthrow the British-sponsored plan to merge Brunei, Sarawak, North Borneo, Malaya and Singapore into a Malaysian federation.

'REBEL PLANS BAD'

The rebels were seeking to link the three Borneo territories into an independent country with the sultan as constitutional ruler.

The sultan, however, said he did not know the plans of the rebels, but whatever they were they were bad. He said he believed the great majority of the people in his sultanate were still loyal to him.

A round-the-clock airlift reinforced British troops at Miri today for a cleanup drive against nationalist rebels in Sarawak.

The rebels were reported putting up sporadic resistance as they retreated toward the jungle interior, where they might try to wage a long guerrilla war.

Canucks Sharp In Final Meet

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (CP)—Canada's British Empire Games swimming team scored a string of victories Thursday in their last of a series of meets in New Zealand following the games in Perth, Australia.

Dick Pound of Montreal swam the fastest 110 yards freestyle ever recorded in New Zealand, winning the event in 56.8 seconds. Aldy Meinhardt of Vancouver won the 110-yard butterfly event in 62.2 seconds—a personal best time. Meinhardt also scored a victory in the 220-yard freestyle in two minutes, 8.6 seconds.

Montreal's Steve Rabinovitch won the men's 110-yard breaststroke in 73.1 seconds. That, too, was the best time ever recorded in New Zealand for the event.

In the 440-yard medley, Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., sprang a surprise by defeating the Australian gold medalist, A. Alexander, in five minutes, 18.3 seconds. It was the first time Gilchrist had ever attempted the 440 medley. Canada's bronze medalist, Jack Kelso of Ocean Falls, B.C., did not place in the event.

Gold medalist Mary Stewart of Vancouver won the women's 110-yard butterfly in 68.7 seconds and Patty Thompson of Hamilton won the 220-yard freestyle in two minutes, 25.4 seconds.

Prized Boxing Honor Awarded Dick Tiger

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Tiger, rugged, middleweight champion from Nigeria, has been named the 1962 winner of the Edward J. Neil award as Fighter of the Year.

The 33-year-old boxer-puncher won eight straight fights in the last two years and captured the World Boxing Association's middleweight crown with a decisive victory over Gene Fullmer.

Americans Wrap Up Hoop Tourney Title

MANILA (AP)—The United States basketball team wound up the seven-nation Philippine invitational tournament Thursday night with its sixth straight victory by defeating the Philippines 94-58 in a rough contest marred by 49 personal fouls.

Lethbridge Nationals, representing Canada, wound up second with five wins and only one loss, to the undefeated Americans.

Senator Ambrosio Padilla, president of the Philippines Basketball Federation, presented a $1,200 gold-plated trophy to the U.S. team.

The U.S., Puerto Rican, Spanish, Philippines and Chinese Nationalist teams will fly to Taipei, Formosa, Saturday for an other invitation tournament starting next week.

Final standings:

United States	6	1
Puerto Rico	5	2
Spain	4	3
Philippines	3	4

Canadians Kept Mutuels Clicking at Record Rate

By Canadian Press
That old urge to put $2 on a nag was stronger than ever in 1962, producing a record betting total of $143,529,942 at 18 Canadian race tracks.

Track betting records popped up almost as often as sure-thing tips. Four of the six provinces with thoroughbred racing reported all-time betting peaks.

Attendances were up slightly although accurate crowd counts are not kept at all tracks.

The national jackpot eclipsed last year's previous record of $136,769,422 by $6,760,520 even though four more tracks operated in 1961. There were 486 racing days this year, two more than 1961, and another record.

Figures do not cover harness racing.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press showed all six provinces had betting increases over 1961. Records were set in Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia while Saskatchewan and Alberta fell just short of previous peaks.

There is no thoroughbred racing in the four Atlantic provinces, where harness meets monopolize the racing scene.

Out of the national total about $120,000,000 went back to successful bettors and winning horses drew just under $6,500,000 in purses. The rest was for taxes, fees and track income.

Provincial governments collected $9,720,859 in taxes and the federal government took a half of 1 per cent—$717,649—as a fee for supervisory services. These include film patrol, saliva tests and RCMP surveillance.

Ontario, with three major tracks, accounted for almost two-thirds of the country's wagering. Bettors shovelled $90,477,564 through the windows, compared with $89,549,959 in 1961. There were 196 racing days, the same as in the previous year.

Biggest single day's betting anywhere in the nation was June 16 at Toronto's luxurious New Woodbine when $1,228,590 came in. Smallest was at Williams Lake, B.C., when $566 was wagered at a May 21 race program.

Betting in Quebec, where Blue Bonnets at Montreal is the only thoroughbred track, soared to $12,844,643 from $9,397,977. Racing resumed at Blue Bonnets last year after an eight-year absence.

One Blue Bonnets official said it was the best racing season in Quebec history. "Even in the big days of 1929 and 1930 we thought we were doing great to get a handle of $100,000 on Saturdays."

There were 40 racing days at the big Montreal track, one more than in 1961.

Manitoba's racing also centres on one track, Assiniboia Downs outside Winnipeg, where the 42-day season was unchanged. Wagering hit $8,349,944 compared with $7,694,393 in 1961 and was the highest in the five-year history of the track.

One factor at Winnipeg was an increase in United States bettors. Special days were held to attract fans from the North Dakota communities of Fargo, Grand Falls and Pembina just across the line. On such days an average of 800 made the trip.

Only three tracks operated in Saskatchewan—at Regina, Saskatoon and Prince Albert. There was no racing at Swift Current which had $9,454 in betting in 1961.

Despite this, Saskatchewan betting rose to $1,857,133 from $1,838,563, missing the 1959 record by about $50,000. The racing season was cut to 18 days from 21.

Six Alberta tracks collected $15,172,331 for a slight gain on the $15,094,069 in 1961. There were 84 racing days compared with 83 last year.

British Columbia tracks added three days to the 103-day 1961 season and came up with a record take of $14,827,927. This compared with $13,204,456 last year and $13,307,307 in the previous record year of 1959.

Most of the B.C. betting is in Vancouver where Exhibition Park took in a record $13,538,197 in 83 days. Sandown Park, just outside Victoria, added another $1,274,112 but fell short of a record set in 1959.

New Pil Goalie Gives United Extra Problem

Wallace Milligan is concerned about "a slackness" in Victoria United's defence, but Robt. Bissett steps forward to indicate that Wally should also worry about offence.

Bob Bissett, a former B.C. all-star, is the new man-between-the-posts for Vancouver Pils. And that's who will be waiting for United when teams stamp their cleats into the Royal Athletic Park turf for Saturday's Pacific Coast Soccer League match.

Bissett, acquired last week by Pils, appears to have given the Vancouver side a noticeable lift. Last weekend, for example, the winless Pils took some of the smoke out of the powerful Firefighters.

Firemen had to go all out for a 1-0 lead, then clinched it with two goals in the last five minutes.

Milligan acknowledges the presence of Bissett, but plans to have a good look at United's defence.

"I'm not happy about the goals we're losing," said the Victoria manager. "We've given up 14 (in 10 games), so we're going to have to tighten up a bit."

"There's a slackness somewhere, and I'm going to see if I can put my finger on it."

United, sharing second with the Firefighters and two points behind league-leading Canadians, can't afford to be upset.

Victoria has played two more games than Canadians and one more than Firemen.

District League's first division teams continue to concern themselves about the McGavin Cup. Three first-round games will be played Sunday in the knockout competition which provides a big boost for the league's injured players' fund.

Victoria West and Heaneys play at Heywood Park, while Canadian Scottish face Kickers at Central Park in a pair of replays. Teams drew in last week's matches.

The third game Sunday, postponed last weekend because of ground conditions, sends Gorge against Evcoes at Topaz Avenue Park.

The Second Division teams, meanwhile, will play their last games of the year. League action will be suspended until Jan. 6.

Following a slow start, Kings have stepped into fourth place in the standings and their game with third-place Drakes shapes up as the feature of the day. In other games, PPCLI host Eddys, Naden-entertains the Saanich Warriors and Island Tug plays Victoria Press.

All matches start at 2.

FIRST CASE OF DISSENSION

Objection From Olmedo

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—The newly-formed International Professional Tennis Association, in which players are their own bosses, experienced its first case of dissension Thursday when Peruvian Alex Olmedo walked out.

The former U.S. Davis Cup star pulled out of the $38,610 tournament at nearby Cowes, after a dispute over expenses, and left for Los Angeles.

Frank Sedgman, president of the association—which pro tournament players formed after the withdrawal of Jack Kramer as promoter—said Olmedo became miffed when he was asked to kick in with a share of the travel costs for the world tour of the past year.

"The Australians have been paying about one-third of the travel expenses on the world tour and the Americans have been fully reimbursed," Sedgman said. "We decided it was only fair for all to share and share alike."

"When we deducted a little from Olmedo's earnings—the expenses amounted to only about $380—he protested. But all the boys agreed he should divvy up."

Sedgman said he thought Olmedo's move was an impulsive one and he felt sure the Peruvian would rejoin the troupe for the world tour next year.

Olmedo pulled the biggest Davis Cup upset in recent history in 1958 when he beat both Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson in winning the trophy for the United States.

THEY'LL NEED IT

These four major league baseball managers weren't kidding when they wished each other luck after meeting in New York. Needing all good fortune they can muster next season are (left to right): Bobby Bragan, Milwaukee Braves; Johnny Pesky, Boston Red Sox; Birdie Tebbetts, Cleveland Indians; and Eddie Lopat, Kansas City Athletics. Pesky and Lopat are new members of managers' lodge.

Kayoed Attendants Agree 'Fighting His Profession'

NAPA, Calif. (CP)—Heavyweight contender Eddie Machen, who knocked out two attendants and injured another in an apparent attempt to escape Napa State Mental Hospital Wednesday night, is under constant observation.

Hospital superintendent Dr. Theodore K. Miller described Machen Thursday as "disturbed and upset."

Machen, 30, father of three children, from Portland, was brought to the hospital Wednesday when found sitting in his car with a revolver and a suicide note.

He was calm when brought to hospital by police, then exploded.

"I don't know if he was trying to escape or what," said Dr. Miller. "He's disturbed, upset. We are taking care of his acute symptoms first."

Machen, still groggy and confused, was visited by his wife Charlotte Thursday.

"He was trying very hard to get a fight with anyone," she said, visibly shaken after the visit. "Fighting was his profession and he wanted to work at it. He was worried about family finances."

Machen's last fight was against Cleveland Williams in July at Houston, Texas. It was a draw and a fight dull enough to diminish the chances of either fighter for a shot at the title.

After his display with the attendants Wednesday night, Machen was put under heavy sedation.

A series of tests will be given him before a report is made in Solano County Court next Tuesday.

EDMONTON (CP)—The wrecking of a Detroit-engineered trade by three players with Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League has raised questions about the future of professional hockey in Edmonton.

Forward Chuck Holmes, Flyers' team captain and leading scorer; forward Warren Hynes and defenceman Lou Maroon refused to shift to Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League, smashing a four-for-four trade arranged Thursday by Detroit Red Wings of the National League, parent club of both teams.

In a telephone interview from Detroit, Sid Abel, Red Wings general manager, said he had no alternative but to suspend the three players.

This raised a serious problem for Flyers' coach Charlie Rayner, who will be short three of his best players, has no replacements, and whose club is lagging in third place in the

The other Pittsburgh players who were to move to Edmonton are forwards Ray Ross and Norm Corcoran and defenceman Jack Price. . .

TURKEY WINNERS
Mrs. D. A. Pinfield, with a net 74, Mrs. R. B. Young, net 81, and Mrs. Carl Locatelli, with 82, were winners in a turkey competition for women at Uplands Golf Club.

Abel to Try Trade With Indians
Abel said he will try to support for Flyers. Abel said trade the three Edmonton players to the club's showing, "but at no time has Detroit thought of pulling out of Edmonton."

Red Wings have an agreement that lasts until 1966 with the Edmonton Exhibition Association, holders of the Flyers' league franchise, but could pull out at the end of this season by dropping their option.

A report in the Calgary Herald Thursday said Red Wings expect to lose approximately $100,000 on their Edmonton operation this season. The Flyers have had an average paid attendance of 1,500 at each game, by contrast, Pittsburgh games are drawing an average paid attendance of 8,000.

The Herald said Detroit will pull out of Edmonton at the end of the season.

"The first move of the planned liquidation came Wednesday, when Detroit ordered four Edmonton flyers to report to Pittsburgh and in return, sent four Hornets to the Flyers," the newspaper said.

Tie a Major Victory For Reviving Bruins

By The Canadian Press

"I think I've finally got this team into the proper attitude," said Boston coach Milt Schmidt above the dressing-room clamor.

His Bruins had just gained a moral victory by holding Montreal Canadiens, the defending National Hockey League champions, to a 1-1 tie Thursday night. The second-place Detroit Red Wings edged fifth-place New York 3-2 in the other scheduled game.

"Listen to this noise," said Schmidt. "They're talking it up now, on the ice and off. They're starting to enjoy the game."

"I thought we skated harder and backchecked more than they did tonight. Also Bobby (rookie goalie Bob Perreault) made a few key saves that kept us in there."

FIGHT PROMISED

Schmidt took over from Phil Watson as coach of the last-place Bruins after they had won only one of their first 14 games.

"From now on, we won't take any losses without fighting like hell. When I started, they were accepting losses, easily. It was just another loss for them."

Schmidt said one of his strongest forwards Thursday night was Forbes Kennedy, who scored Boston's goal midway through the first period by splitting Canadiens' defence and beating goalie Jacques Plante from close in.

The Dorchester, N.B. resident was acquired 10 days ago in a trade with Detroit for forward Andre Pronovost. Kennedy was playing with Detroit's Edmonton farm club in the Western Hockey League at the time.

SCREENED SHOT

Claude Provost, Montreal's digging right winger, tied it up early in the second period with a screened 25-footer that Perreault didn't seem to see.

From then on, it developed into a goalkeepers duel between Perreault and Plante. Perreault, a chubby, 31-year-old native of Trois-Rivieres, Que., outshone Plante, making 38 saves to Plante's 27.

Montreal coach Toe Blake was disgusted with his players after the game.

"They played for the tie, and got it by positional hockey. We had a seven-game undefeated string a week ago, and now we can't even beat the last-place team on our own ice."

TIE FOR THIRD PLACE

The game moved Canadians into a tie for third place with the idle Toronto Maple Leafs. The Wings' win in Detroit moved them within two points of the first-place Hawks and Detroit has two games in hand.

The Wings scored their three goals in the first 10 minutes of play and held on for the victory, leaving the Rangers without a win in their last six games.

The Wings forced Ranger goalie Gump Worsley to make 38 saves, nine more than Detroit netminder Terry Sawchuk.

Swedes Blank Tired Quakers

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Saskatoon Quakers of the Saskatchewan Senior League got off to an off-balance start in the first game of their 17-game European exhibition tour, taking a 7-0 white washing at the hands of Sweden's world championship hockey team.

The travel-weary Quakers were outclassed by the Swedes in every department Thursday. They arrived in Stockholm Wednesday after a long plane ride. They also had some trouble adapting to the much more stringent European rules.

Even so, the Swedes put on a classy performance that showed they again will be a power in world championship play in the new year. It was a performance that delighted a sellout crowd of 16,800—the largest-ever to watch a game in the new Stockholm rink where the 1963 world championships will be held.

The Quakers have a rematch with the Swedes tonight when they move on for other games in Switzerland and Czechoslovakia.

Most Saskatoon players said their legs were dead after the long trip. The play seemed to bear this out.

Shofner In Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Shofner, all-star end with New York Giants of the National Football League, entered hospital Wednesday for treatment of an ulcer. He is expected to miss the Giants' final game of the regular season Sunday against Dallas Cowboys.

Party Girls Don't Live So Long

ARENA
SKATING

If you want to live to be 100, don't do too much partying and pick a family of long-lived persons to be born into.

This advice is from an expert: Mrs. Susannah Perrin, who celebrated her 100th birthday Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Irene G. Williams, 3674 Ophir.

The old lady thinks that being temperate in all things is what has brought her to her great age. But she thinks that coming from a line of long-lived persons has helped too—her mother lived to be 94 and her grandmother passed 100.

Born near London, she lived in England, where she was administrator in a girls' school, until she was 30. Then she went to South Dakota and married her English sweet-heart who had gone ahead of her to prepare a place for them to live.

The two pioneers moved to Maple Creek, Sask., in 1898. Mr. Perrin died 12 years ago and Mrs. Perrin came to live in Victoria two years later.

Mrs. Perrin has 14 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren.

Choir Boys Sing Carols On Saturday

Lovely, trained voices of sup-pliced choir boys will perform carols and other Christmas music Saturday afternoon to entertain hundreds of guests of Victoria Musical Arts Society at the annual Carol Tea at the Empress Hotel.

Under the direction of choir-master Richard Proudman, the choir boys of Christ Church Cathedral, with Peggy Walton Packard as a special guest, will provide the entire program.

Following the Processional Hymn, "Once in Royal David's City", the boys will sing carols: "The Angel Gabriel", "Ding-Dong Merrily on High", "The Coventry Carol", "Sweet Baby Sleep", "Away in a Manger" and "I Saw Three Ships".

The seasonal song, "The 12 Days of Christmas", and a duet from the forthcoming Cathedral production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors", will also be sung. In the latter, Master John Peter and Peggy Walton Packard will be featured.

The hymn, "While Shepherds Watched", and the Recessional, "The First Nowell", are to be shared by the audience.

Boy soloists will be Ronnie Webb, Rod Booth, Pat Patterson, Ian Pool, John Patriarche and John Peter.

The affair begins at 3 o'clock in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

NORMA MACMILLAN on Jack Paar show

Ex-Victorian Plays Voice Of 'Caroline'

A Canadian actress well known in Vancouver and Victoria—she was a member of the Totem Theatre company that played repertory in the old Pantages Theatre a few years ago—is becoming internationally famous as the "voice of Caroline Kennedy."

Norma Macmillan, niece of former Victoria Times editor Benny Nicholas, takes the part of five-year-old Caroline Kennedy in the current best-selling record, "The First Family."

Miss Macmillan, who married Totem Theatre's co-producer, Thor-Argrimm, now lives in New York with her husband and a seven-year-old son and one-year-old daughter.

WRITING TALENT

In addition to being a specialist in children's voices, having recorded hundreds of juvenile impersonations for television and radio, the Vancouver-born actress is also developing a talent for writing. This was revealed in Victoria when her comedy, "The Crowded Affair," was successfully produced by Totem Theatre.

In New York in the summer of 1961, another comedy, "Free as a Bird," was produced at the off-Broadway Grist Mill Theatre, starring Edie Adams.

With members of "The First Family" cast Norma Macmillan will appear on the Jack Paar TV show, Dec. 21.

Youth Survives Plunge From Span

Member of Famed Singing Trio Dies

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI)—Harry Barris, one of the original "rhythm boys" who included crooner Bing Crosby, died Thursday of cancer after a long illness. He was 57.

Barris, a native of New York City who was educated in Denver, later turned composer and wrote several hit tunes including "Mississippi Mud," "I Surrender, Dear," "Little Dutch Mill," "Wrap Your Troubles in Dreams," "It Was So Beautiful," and the recently published "Never Been So Lost."

'Block Occupied Too Soon'

Premature occupation of the new classroom block at Victoria College Gordon Head campus was blamed Thursday for complaints of faults in its construction.

College officials took part in an inspection tour of the Clearview Building, prompted by claims in the student newspaper, The Martlet, that the block was "a real lemon."

"Students had to occupy the building before the contractor had completed the work," architect John Wade said during the tour. "Otherwise many of these things would have been corrected before it was occupied."

He said all new buildings go through the same period of settling during which cracks appear in the concrete.

Usually, however, the contractors are given time to iron out these defects before the building is occupied, he said.

Aluminum-framed windows and doors also had to be installed initially without water-proofing gaskets.

At the same time it was announced the development board was withholding $65,000 of the contract price until 31 minor defects are repaired.

South African Police Press Negro Manhunt

QUEENSTOWN, South Africa (Reuters) — Heavily-armed police today pressed a manhunt for Negroes who escaped Thursday night after a bloody clash with police apparently linked with recent outbreaks of violence in the Transkei territory.

Police said three Negroes were shot dead, a white policeman was hacked to death, and nine Negroes and five whites, including four policemen, were wounded.

Earlier reports said seven Negroes were killed.

The clash was touched off by a police search of a railroad car carrying 32 Negroes, believed to be from Cape Town.

Queenstown was quiet today as five reconnaissance planes and two helicopters flew over the area around the railroad station in the search for the fugitives.

ARMED POLICE PATROL

Armored troop carriers and wire-meshed riot cars were wheeled into the centre of the town as police, armed with rifles and sten guns, patrolled the vicinity of the Queenstown police station.

The train carrying the Negroes was coming from the little Transkei town of Qamata where six Negroes were killed two days ago when police opened fire in a clash near the home of Transkei chief Kaiser Matanzima.

27 Years Without Accident

James N. Simpson of Victoria, a driver for Vancouver Island Coach Lines, has been given a safety award for 27 years' driving without an accident.

His record is the best of the 66 drivers presented with awards by the company this week.

The next best records are the 23 years of safe driving achieved by both Carl Allison of Victoria and Lee Cooper of Nanaimo. They are followed by E. Mulholland of Victoria with 21 years.

Other Victoria drivers awarded were S. J. Pegeh, R. T. Osmars, A. Patterson, Joseph Simpson, R. S. Johnson, G. D. Conrod, R. V. Clark, H. G. Anderson, J. W. Goldsmith, R. A. Pickard, T. Windwood, K. V. Robert, W. G. Herd, T. A. Staples, L. A. McClung, G. Mowat, J. S. Skinner, A. J. Collier, S. B. Beswick and R. D. Huekin.

Nanaimo drivers awarded were R. H. Clark, P. Falk, W. Lackman, D. L. Stewart, T. A. Robertson, R. S. Preston, T. W. Collins and A. H. Brown. Campbell River drivers receiving awards were C. Martin, M. Bewza, G. Gregory-Allen, L. W. Deplford, R. Fontana, H. Z. Grey, E. L. Lawson, G. E. Hickey.

For proficiency in driving during their first part year of service, service awards went to the following drivers: W. McArthur, J. S. Cleator, G. Deane, J. Nickels, R. L. Morgan, A. B. Ayling, K. W. Bordin, I. D. MacDougall, H. Gough, A. L. Jackson, K. Hovgaard, R. Davis, C. Reid, F. Custaloe, J. G. Erickson, A. R. Collier, R. J. Matthews, D. H. Reeves, P. Jaeger, W. Watson, R. G. Stone, J. SHE WAITED SIX YEARS TO SHOOT DOWN KILLER

ROSARIO, Argentina (AP) — A pretty 18-year-old bank clerk waited six years for her father's killer to be released from prison. She shot him dead Thursday and then killed herself in a plunge from an 11th-storey window.

The girl was Celia Ramona Jaime, employee of a bank in Buenos Aires. The man she slew was Celino Brizio Obligado, 68.

Police said Obligado, sent to prison six years ago for killing Celia's father, was released on probation early this month.

When Celia, who had moved to Buenos Aires, learned Obligado was free, she took a bus for the 170-mile trip to Rosario, went to the man's house and asked to see him. When he appeared she took a revolver from her purse and fired, police said.

CANADA GETTING MESSAGE FROM U.S.

'Want Contracts? Join Atom Club'

OTTAWA (CP) — A big Canadian production share of the new United States jet fighter program may depend on Ottawa's willingness to accept American nuclear warheads for the Bomarc missile and Voodoo interceptor, reliable sources here say.

They say there are indications in Washington that U.S. patience on the nuclear issue is beginning to grow thin and that some form of retaliation against Canada can be considered likely if a "yes" decision isn't announced by Ottawa soon.

The most probable form of retaliation, they say, would be a quiet and unannounced reduction in the number and value of U.S. defence contracts let in Canada. This business will amount to some $200,000,000 for Canadian firms this year.

A huge jet fighter development contract has been awarded by the U.S. defence department to General Dynamics Corporation of New York of which Canadair Limited, Montreal, is a wholly-owned subsidiary.

O'Hurley has said he has already spoken to General Dynamics about sub-contracting some of this development program to Canadian companies.

But informants say Canada can't expect a piece of this program unless it is willing to follow through on the government's 1959 commitment to accept defensive nuclear weapons.

Moreover, they add, there might also be a reduction in the current defence production-sharing, instituted by the Canadian and U.S. governments after cancellation of the Arrow jet interceptor program.

Sources say the U.S. has set no deadline on how long it is prepared to wait for a Canadian decision on nuclear arms. Since the Cuban crisis, however, it was apparent the U.S. was unwilling to wait much longer.

Authorities say the U.S. defence department was stunned when the Canadian government during the Cuban crisis turned down a U.S. request that American interceptors be deployed to Canadian air bases.

Highland ponies, Bonny and Nancy, walk with owner Howard Rogerson.

RANCHER PROUD OF HIGHLANDERS

Shoeless Bonny Shuns Shelter But She's First-Rate Chatterer

By ARTHUR MAYSE

Bonny, one-year-old and midnight-black, has never slept in a barn or worn a shoe. Her fetlocks are neat as a pipe major's gaiters, she finds her own fodder, and since her forebears came from those windy moorlands, the near presence of shaggy Highland cattle and blackfaced Hebridean sheep disturbs her not at all.

As one of the only two Highland ponies on Vancouver Island, she roams a green pasture on Howard Rogerson's ranch at Gordon's Beach near Sooke. For company, the little long-legged filly has a 14-year-old white mare called Nancy, imported to British Columbia from North Uist.

Mr. Rogerson is proud of his heavy-coated Highlanders. When the Times asked about them, he drew a long breath and started in to talk.

"Hardy?" he said. "Man, you've no idea! They need no shelter, they're even tougher than the Highland cattle. Bonny and Nancy are living on what you see around. As mounts, they're docile and steady. In Scotland, they use them for trail rides through rough upland country. A Highland pony was King George V's favorite mount. 'Jock' was his name; he followed the king in a horse box on his travels."

MORE NEXT YEAR

Mr. Rogerson, who this month fetched Bonny over from Bruce MacLean's breeding farm near Langley, plans to increase his pony herd considerably next year. He sees Vancouver Island as providing a better market for Highlanders than the mainland.

"Natural born jumpers," he goes on, after drawing in a refill of salty-moist Sooke air that might have been imported from the Outer Hebrides, "and absolutely safe. They're wise to the bog holes, and would never blunder into one. Another good point: the Highland pony has a very hard foot. We never shoe ours; and they don't in Scotland, except where they are to be used on surfaced roads or in gravel."

ON LARGE SIDE

The gentle white mare, Nancy, is a trifle large at 14 hands for a Highlander. Bonny in another three years should stand an ideal 13 hands, and weigh about 500 pounds.

Slightly larger than the popular Welsh pony, but smaller than a horse, she will be an excellent mount for a girl or boy, but capable, with her tremendously strong back, of carrying a grown man. When 25 years old she will be at her seasoned best, and her active lifespan may well extend for 12 years beyond that.

"A lifetime deal," Mr. Rogerson points out. "One can enjoy the Highland pony without having to work at it, and they're with you as long as you need 'em."

VIA GLASGOW

Bonny traces back to the Isle of Mull and the famed Calgary Estate from which the Alberta city takes its name.

Nancy, Edinburgh-registered, came to Canada by way of Glasgow.

"To show how attached one becomes to a Highland pony," Mr. Rogerson said, "let me tell you this: Nancy's owner, a fine Scotswoman called Kirstie Mackenzie, sat up all night with her in the shipping pen before she sailed."

Fire Panic Averted In Store

Near panic was averted in a packed variety store at the Town and Country Shopping Plaza when two fires flared up Thursday evening.

The blazes occurred almost simultaneously at opposite ends of F. W. Woolworth Co. store, and there is little doubt they were set deliberately. Reason is not known.

Attendants and customers were extinguishing a blaze among women's slips on a counter at the north end of the store when the second blaze broke out among Christmas crackers at the south end.

MATCHES FOUND

Matches were found stuffed under the merchandise. Nearly $30 damage was done to the lingerie, and two boxes of crackers were destroyed.

"The worst thing is that the people in the store could have been panicked, and someone would have been hurt," a spokesman said.

As it was, some shoppers left the store hurriedly when smoke started spreading through the crowd.

Had there been excited shouting, there could have been a general rush for the exits in which some of the shoppers could have been trampled or knocked into display cases.

But attendants moved quickly and quietly and with the help of some customers had the fires extinguished before the arrival of fire department crews from the nearby Saanich police-fire headquarters.

Municipal detectives are assisting investigators from the provincial fire marshal's office at Vancouver in a probe which was started immediately.

Ex-Victoria Doctor Dies In Honolulu

A well-known doctor, who practised in Victoria 10 years, died suddenly in Honolulu Wednesday night, it was learned here today.

Dr. E. C. Hoodless practised as an orthopaedic surgeon in Victoria until 1960, when he went to Honolulu.

He died Wednesday night in his sleep at the age of 47.

It is believed he suffered a heart attack.

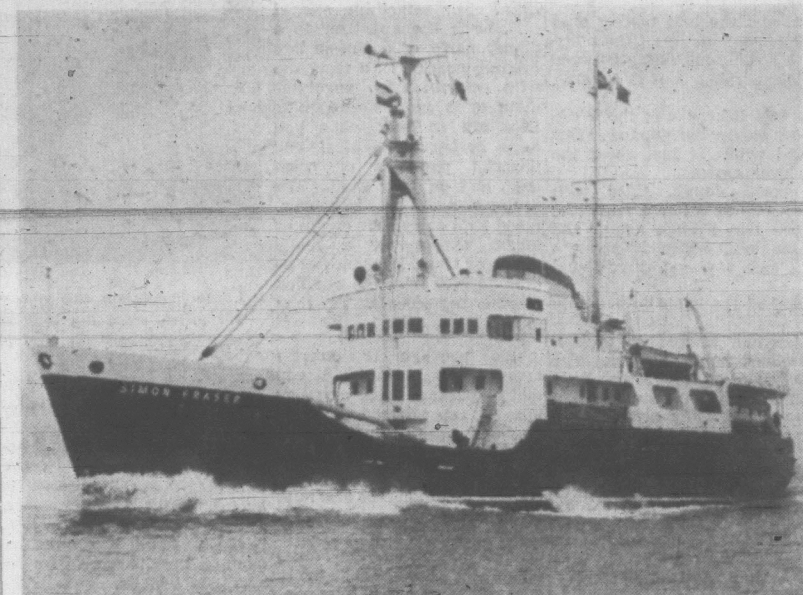

His two boys are attending school in Victoria. Harold is at Victoria College and David at Oak Bay High School.

He is also survived by the widow Rebecca, and his mother, Mrs. L. M. Hoodless, in Hamilton, Ont.

VICTORIA HIGH School graduate WAC2 Margaret Morgan, who joined the RCAF last August, was awarded scroll and gold lanyard as honor graduate of new entry course at St. Jean, Quebec, recently. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Morgan, 192 Bushby, she is now stationed at Toronto.

Victoria Icebreaker St. Lawrence-Bound

By MONTE ROBERTS
The light icebreaker and supply vessel CCGS Simon Fraser, which has been based at Victoria since 1960, will be transferred to the St. Lawrence River, a department of transport spokesman said today.

The 204-foot vessel, built by Burrard Drydock Ltd., is being moved east due to the increase in winter navigation in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the need for more aids to navigation in Hudson Bay and approaches.

The Simon Fraser has been engaged in lighthouse supply and buoy work on the west coast, between Victoria and Prince Rupert.

SAILS JAN. 4

With Capt. James A. Sleight, veteran weather ship master, in command, she will sail Jan. 4 for Quebec via the Panama and Halifax. On arrival at Quebec, the ship's personnel will be returned to Victoria.

The department spokesman said that "some redistribution" will probably be made when they return to Victoria, but "it is expected they can all be looked after without any layoffs."

SEARCH, RESCUE

Jobs will be found for most of them on two special type vessels now building in west coast yards, the cutters CCGS looked after without any lay-off into service in the spring and summer of 1963. Each will have a complement of 18, and their primary duties will be in the field of search and rescue.

The Simon Fraser will assist CCGS Tupper with icebreaking in the lower St. Lawrence in winter and early spring, and service aids to navigation in Hudson Bay during the summer.

The heavy icebreaker Camshell will remain based at Victoria.

INCREASED WINTER shipping activity in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, due to seaway traffic, has necessitated transfer of CGS Simon Fraser from west to east coast. She leaves Jan. 4 by way of Panama Canal.

Three-Way Drive Hits Milk Order

British Columbia dairy farmers today launched a three-pronged assault on a Milk Board order which they claim has destroyed the price-setting formula under which they have worked harmoniously with distributors for the past five years.

Protest against a price-to-producer cut of up to 30 cents per hundredweight moved in these directions:

1. Island and mainland producer delegates are in session at Vancouver with Milk Board chairman E. C. Carr. Spokesmen say they will settle only for a flat quashing of the order which on Nov. 8 became law under the Milk Industry Act.
2. At least one major producer's group, Mainland Dairy-men's Association, is weighing the possibility of taking its

Court Action May Be Considered

Meanwhile, Vancouver Island Dairy-men's Association, which sent three delegates to the Vancouver meeting, is watching the situation closely.

Opening gun in the mainland milk producers' campaign took the shape of a resolution passed at the Abbotsford rally: "The resolution says that unless the offending order is recalled, Mainland Dairy-men's Association will no longer accept the Milk Industry Act as effective in setting a fair producer price for milk."

Later, group president, Phil Fadden said that if the government doesn't act, a second meeting may be called to weigh the possibility of court action.

Cross-Examine Milk Board Head

"We can't sue the Milk Board," Mr. Savage said, "but what we might do is seek a mandate taking Mr. Carr to court, so that we can cross-examine him on why he issued the order."

Mr. Savage, a member of the advisory board to the Milk Board, is one of those speaking for producers at the Vancouver meeting.

"What worries us," he said, "is that Mr. Carr has thrown our formula price out the window. It's all wrong to key the price paid the dairyman for Class I milk (4 per cent butterfat) to Class 3 (manufacturing milk)."

He predicted that the order, if allowed to stand, would

THEY WANT BIG BROTHER FOR CHRISTMAS

Two young Victoria children are hoping Santa Claus will bring home their older brother who has been missing since Aug. 15.

Mrs. Isabel Bennett of 123 Simcoe Street, said today she can't get this idea out of the heads of her children.

Her 18-year-old son Tommy had never been away from home overnight until he disappeared four months ago. At first it was thought he might have joined a travelling circus that had played Victoria. But a check ruled this out.

FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH

Government Ferries To Run Extra Trips

The Toll Authority is expecting huge loads of Christmas holiday travellers this year on ferries between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

To handle the rush it will run virtually an hourly service for six days.

There will be four extra ferries daily on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen and Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay routes.

This is the first time the Toll Authority has had enough ships to handle the Christmas rush. Last year there was no special schedule and ferries ran late into the night to carry overloads.

The Christmas service starts next Friday, and continues Dec. 22, 23, 24, 26 and 27.

The service from Swartz Bay, normally on odd hours between 7 a.m. and 9 p.m., will be augmented by extra sailings at 8 a.m., 12 noon, 4 and 8 p.m. Extra trips from Tsawwassen will be at 10 a.m., 2 p.m., 6 and 10.

The Nanaimo service, normally every other "even" hour from 8 a.m., will have extra sailings at 9 a.m., 1, 5 and 9 p.m. Ships coming from Horseshoe Bay will sail at 7 a.m., 11, 3 p.m. and 7.

What Is Right Side Of Highway?

Which is the right side and which is the left side of a road?

The problem puzzled magistrate's court in Nanaimo on Thursday and a traffic case was adjourned to Jan. 23 to allow the Crown time to investigate the legal point.

Maurice Delamore Lee of Vancouver is charged with parking on the wrong side of the highway following a three-car collision Aug. 7.

Lee's lawyer, Harold Hine, said there is no such offence in the law statutes.

Hine said Section 181 of the Motor Vehicle Act states a car must be parked with its right-hand wheels parallel to the roadway and parallel to the right-hand side of the road. "The question is, which is the right-hand side of the road," said Hine.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Can you please tell me if there is an archery club in Victoria? If so, when do they meet and what is its address?
P.M.C.

A. Victoria Bowmen meet each Wednesday at 1818 Broad Street, from 7:30 to 10 p.m.; also on Sunday afternoons from 1:30 to 4 p.m. For further information contact Mrs. E. Thain, 2758 Foul Bay Road.

Q. When did Russia drop or test her first atomic bomb?
A. The Soviet Union tested its first atomic bomb in August of 1949.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and Answers will be published daily.
All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old collections or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

"B" group of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to the power line at Burnside West. If it is raining the group will go to the Nature House at Francis Park for a film show.

The Nature House will be open on Sunday from 10:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

There will be no letter box collections, mail delivery or wicket service on Christmas Day or New Year's Day, the post office announced today.

On Boxing Day, wicket service will be from 8 a.m. to noon and mail pickups will be made in the evening only.

The sanctuary choir at Metropolitan United Church will present a program of Christmas music at the morning service next Sunday at 11. Soloists will be Mrs. Harold Robinson and Mrs. Grace Hanning.

Victoria Short Wave Club will hold its regular meeting at 2500 Foul Bay Road, tonight at 8.

Cloverdale PTA will hold its monthly meeting on Monday evening at 7:30 in the school.

Colquitz Junior High School PTA will hold a Christmas concert in the school on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The United States destroyer USS Charles E. Brannan will visit Esquimalt Sunday, with 19 officers and 172 men aboard. Commanded by Lt. Cmdr. R. S. Evetts, USN (R), she will also have aboard Capt. J. K. Carpenter, USN (R), senior officer of the US naval reserve destroyer division of the USN's 13th Naval District, Seattle.

Victoria Optimist Club opened its annual Christmas tree lot today at 2017 Quadra Street. Proceeds will be used to assist the club in its various youth development programs.

A Christmas concert by the pupils of John Stubbs Memorial School will be presented at the school's PTA meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium, open to every family in Belmont Park.

Commissioned and senior non-commissioned officers of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will play an unfamiliar role next Friday at Work Point Barracks.

They will be acting as waiters for junior NCOs and privates when the annual all-ranks' Christmas dinner is served at the Esquimalt Garrison.

More than 300 members of the White Cane Club, guides, drivers and friends gathered in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hall Thursday at noon for their annual Christmas dinner.

Speakers included Mayor R. B. Wilson, who brought greetings from the city; A. G. Robbins, vice-president of the Victoria Branch, CNIB; Eric Brettell, director in charge of arrangements, and Miss Gloria Mortimore, CNIB field secretary.

Mrs. E. Watling, president of the club, led the gathering in carol singing and Lance Whittaker, with Al Smith at the piano, led with popular songs.

CPSS Princess Patricia was moved to Yarrows Ltd. today, for an extensive conversion job fitting her out as an Alaska cruise liner.

Victoria Camera Club will meet Wednesday in the St. John Ambulance Hall at 7:45 p.m. Guest speaker will be Ted Goodall who will show slides of Lake O'Hara and Jasper National Park.

LOOT STOLEN from Colwood-Langford schools Dec. 1 weekend, uncovered by Saanich police Thursday night, is examined by Colwood RCMP constable T. W. Shield. (Times photo.)

Foiled Holdup Leads to Arrests

Saanich and Esquimalt police, investigating a holdup attempt on an all-night gas station early Thursday, uncovered $1,500 worth of stolen goods which triggered arrests by Colwood and city police the same evening.

Saanich detectives were investigating the holdup of attendant Bert Carson at Westview Service Station, Tillicum and Trans-Canada Highway, when a stolen car was spotted by naval shore patrol in Esquimalt, near the Gorge beer parlor.

COVERED WITH OIL

Interior of the car, stolen in the city, was covered with oil and the vehicle is believed to be the one used by three hooded youths who held up Mr. Carson at gunpoint.

The attendant had broken a bottle of oil over the head of one of the men, and all three were believed covered with the heavy lubricant.

The car now is being held by Saanich police, who are dusting it for fingerprints.

The car itself led police to a Menzies Street address where they questioned several occupants in connection with the holdup.

At the address Saanich detectives then uncovered $1,500 worth of equipment stolen from schools in the Langford-Colwood area the weekend of Dec. 1.

Two adding machines, a movie projector, record player and radio were missing from Belmont High School, Elizabeth Fisher Junior High and Langford Elementary after break-ins.

The equipment was discovered hidden under a mattress in a closet.

Colwood and city police were called in and arrested the occupant of the room in connection with six or seven break-ins in their territory.

Colwood RCMP also arrested a juvenile in connection with the thefts, later in the day.

That day, Esquimalt police stopped Arthur B. Loring, 18, of 59 Menzies, driving in the municipality.

He appeared in city police court this morning where he pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft from Menzies Fish and Chips, 211 Menzies, Tuesday; procuring goods from The T. Eaton Co. through false pretences, Wednesday, and driving without a license or insurance.

He was remanded to Dec. 21 for probation report and sentences on the first two charges, and was sentenced to seven days, not concurrent, on the two traffic counts.

Court was told he entered Menzies Fish and Chips Shop through a side window, and pried open a cigarette machine with a hatchet to take loose change.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Cobble Stones for Eating—
A German Christmas Treat

By PENNY SAVER

Don't you wish you were Penny, running around from bakery to bakery, having a taste of this and that—this being pflastersteine and that being aachner printen. If I have offended any German-speaking citizen by mixing up a few syllables blame it on the poor communication between Penny and the German baker.

Pflastersteine are cobblestones and cobblestones are honey ginger cakes. Each little cake is made of little pieces of dark spicy dough that stick together when baked to give a cobblestone effect. Brushed with icing and wrapped in packages of six, they sell for 40 cents.

Aachner printen are dominos and the best tasting ones I've ever sunk my teeth into. They are made up of three layers of rich fruity cake dough with a delicious filling between each layer and a thin dark chocolate topping. Cut-in squares, they are 60 cents a dozen.

What really attracted me to this bakery was the Weihnachtsstollen that a friend had noticed in the window. This is a real German Christmas bread which is just about the most scrumptious thing I have ever eaten.

Toasted or plain, this rich bread dough, filled with almonds and glazed fruits, makes a cup of coffee a real treat for the day. The bread is shaped like French leaves and dusted with powdered sugar. One loaf, which is about a pound, costs 90 cents. There are also two- and three-pound loaves.

For a wonderful gift buy a loaf of the bread in a sturdy German bread basket for $1.90.

Another favorite in every German kitchen is pfeffer-nüsse. These ginger nuts are spiced honey cookies. The flavor is wonderful, but I want to warn you they are as hard as a rock. They are just the thing for children, as one cookie would keep them busy for some time. They are only 35 cents a dozen.

Another cake which I didn't sample is a loaf made of three layers of strawberry, chocolate and vanilla flavors and wrapped in a thin layer of soft marzipan. It sells for $1.10 a loaf.

Hungry? Phone Penny at 382-3131.

THE BETTER HALF

"Do you need all that just for Christmas shopping or are you going to make a wreath of the stuff?"

Glamorized 'Long Johns'
Gaining In Popularity

LONDON (AP)—As winter draws on, old-fashioned long underwear has become stylish again with British girls.

Said a spokesman for a big London store specializing in undergarments for milady:

"They began selling again about three years ago. And then, quite suddenly, they were taken up by the young."

"So far this season our sales in them have trebled over last year."

He added: "Not only are they warm, but they're also rather sexy—an irresistible combination."

A prominent British psychologist, who asked that his name not be used, said:

"What seems to be a new craze for these garments from another age probably indicates a need on the part of the wearer for warmth and security."

Asked what he thought men would think of them, he replied:

"They will probably find them very attractive. That is, what portion of them they'll see. You know—it's the same thing as how exciting an ankle can be when that's all you can see."

The new longies come in several styles and colors. The biggest-selling item is a knitted pair of semi-long pants that extend from just above the knee to just above the waist.

BEAUTY HINTS

Refresher Course—For a quick set of kiss curls and bangs—get out the roll of Scotch tape. Comb and curve the hair the way you want it; then press down with a little Scotch tape; then spray. Let dry, remove tape carefully—and you can vamp till ready.

Goggle Aye—Behind your skin goggles, let there be eye cream on your lids. Keeps those tiny squint lines in check; gives your lids a pretty, dewy look all the while it's doing good. Don't rub it in; press it on.

After Ski Dream—Cold and wind makes tender skins more sensitive. Be sure you protect your skin with light, fragrant foundation lotion; then before you go to bed, more of the same, all over. Makes the sheets feel silken; your skin the same way.

Backward Forward—Try turning your classic cardigan back to front, to wear over your tendor pants. Looks new, looks like a knit blouse, looks good!

Forever Fragrant—If perfume doesn't seem to last on you, try rubbing into your skin a small amount of your favorite velvety bath oil. Any stickiness disappears immediately, leaving only the fragrance to enchant.

BE SMART—

Feather fillips live up those dreary days of winter, scattering great dash throughout your wardrobe. A simple dinner dress turns up for the holidays in royal splendor when worn with a lavish box of lush white ostrich feathers. A heavenly design for the young-at-heart co-features a black velvet body and feather-petal sleeves.

Party
Dunks
And Dips

When the holidays roll around, the fun begins. From gay informal get-togethers to elaborate dinner parties, the schedule is full. Everyone likes to entertain and to be entertained.

What's to serve that's new and different... when the guests are coming to your house... often presents a problem. For something special...

be it the appetizer-to-a-dinner party or a simple late evening snack... a tasty dip with colorful crisp vegetable dunks is most appropriate.

Dips are so easy when you keep handy, economical and flavorful packages of onion soup mix on your shelf. The soup mix needs only to be combined with dairy sour cream or cream cheese for a really tempting treat. Or you can even fancy it with the addition of other ingredients. Try this:

ONION DIP DE LUXE

One package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened, 1/4 cup milk, 1 package onion dry soup mix, 1/4 cup slivered almonds, 1/4 cup chopped chutney, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard.

Blend cream cheese and milk until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Chill. Thin to desired consistency. Makes about 1 1/2 cups dip. Serve with celery, carrot, cucumber or green pepper sticks.

To sip along with this creamy dip... canned condensed beef broth-on-the-rocks. Fill a roomy glass with ice cubes. Pour beef broth right from the can, over the cubes. A garnish of lime adds a colorful holiday touch. Include, too, a bowl of crisp crackers, chips and pretzels.

For your Christmas party, serve this dip:

CHEESE AND ONION DIP

One package onion dry soup mix 2 cups dairy sour cream, 1 cup shredded Edam cheese, 1/4 cup shredded carrot, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard.

Combine all ingredients. Chill.

Serve with chips, crackers, pretzels, or celery sticks. Makes 2 1/2 cups dip.

Among the easiest of all appetizers to prepare and serve are the dips and spreads to be eaten with chips, crackers, Melba toast, and the like. Basically, these two types of mixtures are the same, with the exception that the dip is a little thinner than the spread. A dip should be just thick enough to cling to a chip or cracker without dripping, but not so thick that it must be scooped up. Some very delicious dips and spreads are made with seafoods, as the following two recipes will show. Make them for your next party and watch the nibblers come back for more and more.

LOBSTER DIP

Two cans (3 ounces each) lobster paste, 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, 1/4 cup dairy sour cream.

Blend lobster paste with softened cream cheese. Add sour cream. Mix well. Chill. Serve with a bowl surrounded by potato chips and crackers. Garnish dip with parsley. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

CLAM CHEESE LOG

Two cans (3 ounces drained weight, each) minced clams or 1 cup drained and minced canned clams, 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 can (4 ounces) pimientos, 1/2 cup finely brushed saltines, 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts.

Drain clams. Soften cream cheese and blend with lemon juice, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, parsley, and onion; mix until smooth. Add drained, finely chopped pimientos, clams and cracker crumbs. Mix well. Chill until firm enough to handle. Wrap in waxed paper and shape into a roll about 8 inches long. Roll in chopped nuts until coated. Chill until firm. Serve on a platter surrounded by assorted crackers. Provide a knife for cutting and spreading.

DEAR ABBY

It's No Easy Task, Honey!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and some day I hope to become a spy. My parents and relatives have tried to discourage me, but I have dreamed of being a spy as long as I can remember. When I mention my future plans to adults, they laugh and think I am kidding, but I am not, Abby. Spies have very exciting lives and they perform great services for their country. Do you think this is a childish dream or should I go through with it? I know what I am getting into as I have read every spy story I could get my hands on—FUTURE GIRL SPY.

Empress Hotel Set for Festivities

A Christmas family dinner, started by the Empress Hotel several years ago, has grown so popular it will be held on two evenings during the hotel's Yuletide season. The dinner starts the holiday program this Sunday in the Empress Room from 6 to 9 p.m., and will be held again on Sunday, Dec. 23.

Another popular Christmas event, the family dinner dance, is also planned for two evenings, on Saturday, Dec. 22, and Thursday, Dec. 27.

Two Christmas carol teas are planned, one next Friday afternoon, from 3:30 to 5 p.m., and the second on Wednesday, Dec. 26, at the same time, both in the ballroom. On Christmas Eve a special dinner will be held in the Empress dining room, followed by a carol concert, given by the Rotary Boys' Choir, in the main lounge from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Colorful Elizabethan ceremonies of the "Order of a Merrie Yuletide" that make the Empress Hotel so popular at the Christmas season, will again be presented on Christmas Day. Carolers in old-time costumes will awake the guests on Christmas morning with singing along the corridors and will sing again at entrance to the dining room at the breakfast hour. There will be a special tea served in the lounge Christmas afternoon with the waitresses dressed in quaint Kate Greenaway costumes.

At 7 p.m., the Yule log ceremony will take place in the main lounge, followed by special Christmas dinner in the dining room and the ballroom. During dinner there will be a band's head procession and later, in the main lounge, a Christmas musicale.

A holiday smorgasbord is planned in the Empress dining room on Friday, December 28; the usual New Year's Eve frolic will be held in the ballroom from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m., and New Year's Day dinner from 6 to 9 p.m.

Submariners Hold Dance

The Encores orchestra will play for dancing when the ship's company of the Pacific Command's submarine, HMCS Grise, hold their annual Christmas dance in the Fleet Club at HMCS Naden this evening. Among the special guests will be the ship's commanding officer, Lt.-Cmdr. G. C. McMorris, RCN, and Mrs. McMorris. Also invited are all officers and men who have served in the submarine since her commissioning in May, 1961. About 150 guests are expected to attend. Dress will be formal.

Prior to the dance, Lt.-Cmdr. R. A. MacKay, RCN, executive officer of HMCS Grise, and Mrs. MacKay will host a cocktail hour in their home on Mount Rose Avenue. Guests will include the ship's officers, chief petty officers and petty officers, first class, and their wives.

Busy Party Line

The sparkle of the pre-holiday season is accentuated with the many parties that fill these December days.

Friends of Group Capt. A. F. Avant, RCAF, and Mrs. Avant will gather in the Avant home at Royal Roads this evening to attend a pre-Christmas bridge party.

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Lewis entertained at a sherry party in their home on Ferndale Road on Sunday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Stenstrom have been hosts to their friends at a series of cocktail parties. First was on Wednesday evening, second on Thursday and another is being held in their Cardigan Road home this evening.

Planning an early evening party for their friends are Dr. and Mrs. Gavin Chisholm of Smugglers Cove Road. Party will be held on Sunday, Dec. 23.

Sixty members of the Women's Committee of the Victoria Symphony Society gathered in the Lansdowne Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barracough on Wednesday evening for a pre-Christmas party. A buffet supper was served, games were played. Exchange of gifts and carol singing rounded out the evening.

Wing Cmdr. Leslie Spruston, RCAF, and Mrs. Spruston entertained at a cocktail party in their home at Royal Roads on Sunday evening.

Leave Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Wood leave Victoria on Tuesday to spend the Christmas holiday with Mrs. Wood's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Scarlett, in their home at Saskatoon, Sask. They will return to the city in late December.

Tonight's Bride

Miss Marilyn Cleugh, who is being married tonight in Duncan, was honored at a shower recently at the home of Miss Beverly Lake on Calumet Avenue. A corsage of yellow rosebuds was presented to the bride-elect and pink carnations to her mother, Mrs. R. Cleugh, and to the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. Dorothy Bird. Other guests included Mrs. H. McGregor, Mrs. A. Latter, Mrs. R. Hamay, Mrs.

Here's One Of 'Joey's' Friends

NORTH WEST BROOK, Nfld. (CP)—A short time before Newfoundland's provincial election in November, Mrs. Mary Brown, 96, mentioned two things she would like to do—vote in the election and live to 100.

She has realized her first wish. And her chances of seeing her second come true are boosted by a combination of good health and a family tradition of longevity.

It's hardly necessary to ask her whose party she supported in the election which returned Liberal Premier Joey Smallwood.

Pictures of the premier hang on her bedroom wall and she says that when she dies "one of Joey's pictures will go into the coffin with me."

"Longevity is a mark of my family," she says, although she has helped with her own formula—hard work, good Newfoundland air, retiring and rising early, shunning worry and trusting in God. Many of her family reached the 100-year mark.

The people of India have set up more than 7,000 institutions for different aspects of child care.

Victoria Man Wed in Washington

A wedding of interest to Victorians took place in Cashmere, Wash., recently, when Ruth Aylene Peaslee exchanged vows with Cordell Raymond Newby in Grace Lutheran Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Peaslee of Cashmere. Groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Newby of Victoria.

Rev. Luther Cronrath officiated at the candlelight ceremony. Altar was banked with white flowers and rest of church was decorated with gold and bronze chrysanthemums. Organ music included "O Perfect Love," "The Wedding Prayer" and prelude excerpts from Handel's "Water Music."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk organza that was styled with a scoop neckline, cap sleeves and four floating panels that accented the chapel train. Veil was of French silk illusion net. White chrysanthemums and yellow roses topped the white Bible she carried. Bible was a gift from her grandmother and as "something old" she carried a handkerchief which had been carried by her grandmother on her wedding day 50 years ago.

GOLD AND WHITE

A street-length sheath gown of gold brocade satin was chosen by matron of honor, Mrs. Quimby Powell Shaw. Bronze chrysanthemums formed her cascade bouquet. Miss Susie Henson was flower girl in a frock of white satin brocade.

Clifford Horwood, Victoria, was best man and ushers were Mrs. Ron Zediker and Rev. Veri Madison. Mr. and Mrs. Horwood travelled from Victoria to attend the wedding. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Twigg of Chilliwack and Chris Maden, Bellingham, Wash.

After a reception in the church hall the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Los Angeles and San Francisco. As her going-away ensemble the bride chose a two-piece beige suit with brown and pink accessories.

Couple are now making their home at Leavenworth, Wash.

One of the simplest and tastiest party appetizers is made like this: Spread toast fingers with softened butter and top each with a thin slice of smoked salmon (2 oz.) trimmed to size. Garnish with lemon, thinly sliced and cut in tiny wedges.

Political Success is Harder For Women to Achieve Than Men

EDMONTON (CP)—Women can often be counted on to vote for another woman just because they think one of their sex should be given a chance at public office. Postmaster-General Ellen Fairclough said here today.

In a talk to the annual convention of the Farm Women's Union, Mrs. Fairclough said there are dozens of women in Canadian politics who owe their success primarily to the backing of women's organizations.

Some women campaigned quite openly on a woman's platform, disregarding the male vote. Others appealed to men on the basis of their individual ability and experience and to women on the basis of their femininity.

The 59-year-old mother of one grown son told the convention married women—particularly those with children—face serious complications if they attempt to enter the world of commerce, industry or politics.

EXAMINE ABILITIES

Those wanting to "try their wings" should first ask themselves about their training, ability, strength, determination and toughness.

Mrs. Fairclough said it is far more difficult for a woman to make a success of a political career than for a man.

The greatest single obstacle was the public's hesitation to accept the idea that a woman is capable of withstanding the knocks and scrapes that are an integral part of political life.

Others, both men and women, seriously doubted that a woman could serve as effectively in a responsible post as a man.

"It is undeniable, however, that a woman must demonstrate superior abilities before she can be considered equal to her male cohorts."

LEGEND DIES SLOWLY

"For centuries we have contributed to the idea that women were weak and inadequate, clinging to their man for support and advice. It would be less than reasonable for us to expect that a legend nursed so carefully for so long by men and women alike could suddenly be abandoned."

Unless willing to compete on even terms with a male, a woman should look to her job as a homemaker.

"You will be able to absorb the trite and traditional remarks about your job as a homemaker because you will know that this, at least, is one job you can do better than any man."

Does He Object to Doctor Being of Feminine Sex?

MONTREAL (CP)—The male doctor treating the female patient is as old as the medical profession itself.

But how about the female doctor treating the male patient. Embarrassing?

Maybe, says Dr. Edith Newell, a Sudbury, Ont., general practitioner. But once a patient, the men will remain patients "as long as they're sure that we are not going to embarrass them in any way."

A woman doctor, says Dr. M. J. Halberstadt of Malone, N.Y., has to maintain "a stricter professional relationship with male patients." But this was not unusual because "male doctors must act the same way with their female patients."

The two were among four women doctors attending a convention here of 90 general practitioners. The others were Heavy thighs can be slimmed back into proportion with this exercise. See how far out you can swing your leg, and how close to your head you can touch the floor with your toe.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here's An Exercise to Use In Slimming Those Thighs

Q. "I am 15 years old, five feet tall and weigh 115 pounds. Most of my weight is on my legs. My thighs are large but from there up I am small: bust 32 inches, waist 22 inches and hips 32 inches. How much overweight am I and how can I distribute my weight more attractively?"

A. Well, sweetie, 32-22-32 sounds most attractive to me. According to the charts you are about 10 pounds overweight, but with those measurements I do not think you can be overweight at all. You must have a large frame.

Evidently it is the thighs which are making you feel overweight and out of proportion. You can slim them with exercise. Do the following exercise faithfully, about 20 times a day on each side:

Lie on your left side with your body in a straight line from head to toes. Brace yourself by placing your right hand on the floor in front of you. Swing your right leg (with a stiff knee) as far forward as you can and touch the floor with your right toe, as far out as possible. Bring your right leg back to starting position on top of your left leg. Continue. After a while turn onto your right side, brace yourself with your left hand and repeat the exercise with your left leg.

Q. "I am 16 years old. My waist measurements 26 inches, my hips 33 and my bust 35 inches. I say that my bust and hips are too big but everyone says that they aren't. Please tell me if this is true or not."

A. You are arguing with the wrong measurement! Your hips and bust are in perfect ratio. In fact you have a wonderful figure. If you want to quarrel with any measurement, fight your waistline. For absolute perfection take waist slimming exercises for a loss of one inch there.

Q. "How long does a woman have to exercise to keep her figure in shape—good shape? Even though I have a busy life, with several children, an attractive husband and all of my own housework to do. I have to fight the bulge constantly—the abdominal bulge. I mean, I am not overweight because I watch my calories. Can I do just a few exercises a day?"

A. You certainly can and with wonderful results. Keep watching the calories and do abdominal exercises. They are not abominable! Spend 10 or 15 minutes a day and you will be happy. Remember your posture, too. Try to hold your abdominal muscles in. If any of my readers would like to have my abdominal exercises which I have tested in my figure molding classes, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When you're having company and want your coffee extra good, add an inch of vanilla bean to the ground coffee before brewing. Use your regular coffee-maker, brewing the coffee just as you usually do. Caution: vanilla extract just won't do.

For a quick, economical dessert, combine two cups of hot coffee and six tablespoons of sugar. Mix with an envelope of unflavored gelatin that has been dissolved in a quarter-cup of cold water. Set in a mold and serve with whipped cream.

Canned foods may be stored any place. The best storage is in a dry place at a moderately cool temperature. A cool, dry cellar is suitable. In kitchen storage avoid placing the food near steam pipes, radiators, furnaces, or kitchen ranges. A product stored at 70 degrees will keep about twice as long as one stored at 90 degrees.

For glamorous leftovers, blend 1 can (10 1/4 ounces) beef gravy with 1/2 cup orange juice and 1 tablespoon apricot preserves. Simmer a few minutes and serve over sliced cooked ham or pork. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

SOLUTION MONDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—A very funny thing happened to Joseph Cotten's exquisitely beautiful wife, Patricia Medina, while she was campaigning against "coughers"—the people who cough during plays and movies and disturb nice quiet folks like you and me.

"Those people," pretty Patricia was telling Joe recently, "should hold their coughs in or go out in the street to cough."

It was very annoying to them, playing wife-and-husband in the whodunit about Big Business chicanery, "Calculated Risk," at the Ambassador.

"So I'm going to crusade to get the coughers out!" Patricia said—and Earl Wilson was to do a fat interview about it.

"Wonderful!" I said. "I don't like to mention any people in my family but some of them do cough needlessly..."

On a recent afternoon, I arrived at the Cottens' stunning penthouse in the E.60s, ready to ensnare Pat's blistering words.

"Something wrong?" I asked.

Pat's hair had been freshly done. Her diamonds had been shone. She had on—or over her—a beautiful mink. She was lying on a couch.

Coughing!

"Pleurisy," she explained.

"I had it twice before. It went into pneumonia. I'm all right now—going back into the show."

"Hilarious!" I exclaimed.

"Makes a funny column. Cough Bites Anti-Cough Actress!"

"Yeah," Pat sniffled in agreement. "Everybody in the cast got coughs. We couldn't hear ourselves act. I got so I loved coughers in the audience. They gave me a chance to cough."

"Fun-nee," I said. "Glad everybody's OK now and you are back in the show. Got flu shots myself. Not worried..."

I went to the theatre the other night to make sure she was back. Sure was. Everything was fine—except for one very, very loud cougher. He was standing in the back and finally was annoying people so much he went out into the street to cough.

Met

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Edith Piaf—our Paris spy insists—bought electric trains for Christmas for her youthful husband, Theo Sarape...

Mrs. Kirk Douglas decided not to sue about her article, "My Awful Wedded Husband," which she'd claimed was printed without her final OK...

A drive's on to get men to wear dinner jackets throughout the holidays—to give their wives a chance to dress up and show off...

Johnny Weissmuller's reported divorcing to marry Maria Mandell...

Singer Joni James has adopted her second Italian child...

EARL'S PEARLS: Phil Foster, enthusiastic about the suggestion that U.S. stamps be flavored to taste like wine, has already ordered a quart of 4c stamps.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Dick Gregory at Basin St. E. talks about a NY club charging $43 a drink, then beating up customers and throwing them out. "Hell, in Chicago," he says, "we did that at the Y."

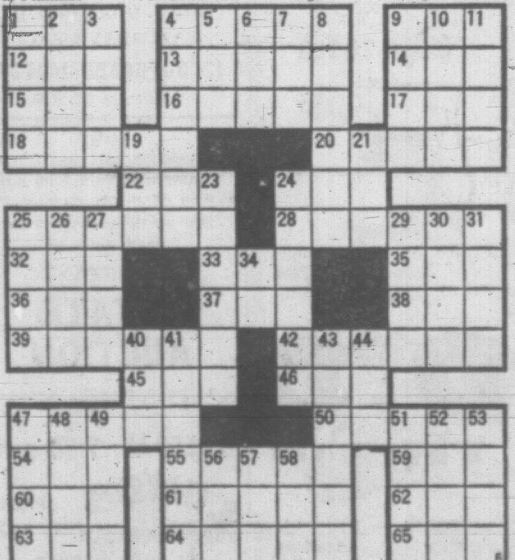

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Want to learn to think on your feet? Become a pedestrian" (George Carlin).

That's earl, brother.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other last-minute prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question.

Andy Sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Christopher C. Harcourt, age 9, of Garden Grove, Calif., for his question:

Why Are There So Many Strange Animals in Australia?

If you go to Australia for Christmas, you will arrive in the summer season. There they have winter while we are enjoying the sunny summer. This seems odd. But the people there will introduce you to the native animals—and they are even odder than the topsyturvy seasons.

Many of Australia's strange animals and their cousins also live on Tasmania, New Zealand and other nearby islands. These faraway lands are surrounded by wide, wide stretches of ocean, and explorers from the Old World did not find them until a few hundred years ago. Some of the people back home refused to believe that these islands south of the equator had summer while they had winter and winter while they had summer.

But some of the strange native animals were taken to the Old World, and the people there just had to believe what they saw with their own eyes. They were all agog. Then someone found a suitable name for Australia and its small islands. The region was called the Antipodes, which means opposite. Somehow this name made it easier for Old Worlders to believe what they heard and saw. What's more, the Antipodes means the opposite part of the globe from where you are, so the new word made sense.

The thylacine looks like a scrawny dog with a tiger-striped coat. There is a bushy-tailed mouse type and a bushy-tailed rat type. There is a spotty cat type of animal. There is the cuddly koala, the duckbilled platypus, the world-famous kangaroo and a host of his small wallaby cousins. These animals seem strange to us. But they are not strangers in their native home of the Antipodes.

These animals of the Antipodes are not really dogs and cats or mice and rats even when they look somewhat like them. They are marsupials. They are born as midget babies, so helpless that they must spend weeks and maybe months growing in mama's pouch.

Marsupials Safe In Australia

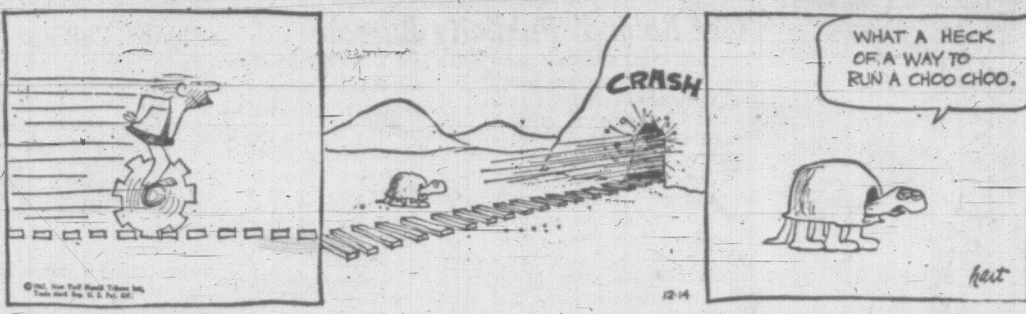

From fossil bones, we know that marsupials once thrived in many lands. Some experts suggest that at this time the Antipodes were part of one big continent. The big land mass, we are told, broke in pieces, and the sections drifted like rafts through the southern seas. Later, tigerish meat-eaters came to live in the rest of the world, and the marsupials there were helpless against their teeth and claws. The deadly meat-eaters never spanned the wide wastes of water to the Antipodes, and there the marsupials survived in safety.

A few marsupials—in the rest of the world—survived the prowling meat-eaters. Our

LADIES FIRST!

First car up the ramp of the new View Street parking garage this morning was driven by Mrs. C. C. Wyatt after her husband, the city manager, officially opened the building. With her were wives of Mayor R. B. Wilson and Ald. Michael Griffin—credited as the driving force behind the project. Cavalcade of cars bearing civic and business officials followed into the partly completed building.

City Swings Into New Era On Double-Barrel Triumph

Civic Square Approved, Parking Garage Opened

By JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

A jubilant city council—backed by a landslide vote for the civic precinct—attended the opening of the first civic car park downtown today.

They all felt that the double event marked the turning point in a full-scale revitalization of downtown Victoria.

"This is indeed a red-letter day for the city of Victoria," said a beaming Mayor R. B. Wilson as he addressed more than 100 persons at the opening of the View Street parking garage.

"Last night Centennial Victoria Square received overwhelming endorsement and to day we are opening this fine parking building which signifies that the hopes and aspirations of downtown Victoria have been achieved."

Election Story Page 7

The $950,000 Centennial Victoria Square money—$545,000—which will create a comprehensive civic precinct around the City Hall within three years—was backed by a four-to-one majority at the polls.

It drew 4,099 yes votes against 1,018 no ballots in a turnout that saw 30.92 per cent of the eligible voters signify their wishes.

They Wanted to 'Get on With It'

The sheer weight of approval by the ratepayers is expected to set up a momentum within council to keep revitalization projects humming until the city's rundown areas are transformed.

There appeared no doubt that the ratepayers were anxious for city council to "get on with it" as some aldermen observed and the endorsement is expected to intensify enthusiasm for other projects such as the Inner Harbor improvement, urban renewal and a general beautification program.

The new confidence generated by the vote was shown by Mayor Wilson when he predicted the View Street car park will be "the forerunner of other structures that will retain downtown Victoria as the most complete, most attractive and most fascinating shopping centre on Vancouver Island.

(More informally, the mayor's first reaction when the city's rundown areas are transformed.)

City precinct chairman Ald. A. W. Toome, who also won re-election Thursday, said he would schedule a meeting for Monday to begin detailed work on the precinct plan.

Honor of officially opening the car park—put into service although a couple of floors remain to be completed—was given city manager C. C. Wyatt in recognition of his years of service to the city.

Down town Businessmen's Association president Douglas Abbott was master of ceremony.

City Bishop Consecrated

ST. BONIFACE (CP)—Most Rev. Remigio Joseph De Roo, Lockhart of Winnipeg and Rev. Dr. E. J. Treusch, executive director of the Canadian Roman Catholic bishop today with his consecration in St. Boniface Basilica.

The 38-year-old clergyman leaves shortly for British Columbia to take over Victoria diocese.

He was consecrated in a three-hour morning ceremony before an array of church dignitaries.

The consecration service conducted by Archbishop Maurice Baudoux of St. Boniface was attended by 21 bishops of the church in Canada, several hundred parish priests, monks and nuns and a congregation bringing the total number in the 1,600-seat basilica to 1,200.

Archbishop Baudoux was assisted by Archbishop Georges Cabana of Sherbrooke, Que., and Archbishop coadjutor Marin Johnson of Vancouver.

College principal Dr. W. C. Lockhart of Winnipeg and Rev. Dr. E. J. Treusch, executive director of the Canadian Lutheran Church.

The Manitoba government was represented by Lieut. Gov. Erick Willis and his wife.

Sermons were delivered by coadjutor Archbishop Philip F. Pocock of Toronto and Bishop Alme Decosse of Gravelbourg, Sask.

Bishop De Roo—formerly parish priest of Holy Cross Church in Winnipeg received the bishop's ring and cross of the late Archbishop Arthur Beliveau of St. Boniface from his consecrator.

The ring had been designated last week as a personal gift of Pope John to the new bishop.

SPACECRAFT IN CONTACT WITH VENUS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mariner II whizzed close to Venus today, giving anxious and excited scientists 36,000,000 miles away on earth man's first closeup check on another planet.

Radio contact between the space probe, the planet and earth was established about 2 p.m. EST (11 a.m. PST).

Through Mariner's heat- and radio-sensitive eyes scientists hope to learn the weight, temperature and something about the atmosphere of the cloud-veiled planet now the morning star seen before dawn in the southeast sky.

It may be as long as a month before the radioed data can be analyzed and evaluated, however.

FRIENDSHIP DOLLARS

It Started With War Victims

The Times appeal for "Friendship Dollars for India" is made in support of the Unitarian Service Committee.

That name is, in a way, misleading. Because the USC has nothing to do with the Unitarian churches.

Back in 1945, when the USC was formed, it was a Canadian development of the work of the Unitarian churches in the United States.

But it quickly severed all connections with the U.S. and the Unitarians although it retained its original name. It has for years been an independent agency with support from persons of many religions.

Just as it draws support regardless of creed so it also extends help regardless of nationality, color or caste. It raises funds by public appeals across Canada with the goal this year being $300,000.

WAR VICTIMS

When it began in 1945 it helped mainly war victims. Today it is victims of poverty, disease and illiteracy who are being aided and rehabilitated.

But only a small proportion of the total who need help are being aided by the USC. There is not enough money to finance badly needed expansion of facilities in India, for example.

For this reason The Times is appealing on the USC's behalf, for "Friendship Dollars for India."

These "Friendship Dollars" are the keys which open the door to a new life for children in the areas of India served by the USC. So far Victorians have given $6,244.

Contributions should be sent to "Friendship Dollars for India," c/o The Times, 2631 Douglas. All donations are acknowledged in the paper and official receipts are sent later by the USC.

The Bank of Montreal, at Yates and Douglas, has also made arrangements to receive donations to the appeal.

FOR NATO

Seaborne A-Force Proposed

Times News Services

PARIS—U.S. State Secretary Rusk today proposed formation of a multilateral NATO seaborne nuclear force while another American official strongly criticized the preparedness of NATO forces.

Council sources quoted Rusk as saying the Seaborne nuclear force—earlier proposed by the Eisenhower administration—would be established if the European members of NATO wanted it.

The sources said Rusk made his surprise offer after intervention during the 15-nation NATO ministerial council's military debate. Rusk named political and military control and cost as the main problems of the seaborne nuclear force.

In strong criticism of European NATO forces, U.S. Defense Secretary McNamara said only the 400,000 American troops and the Canadian NATO brigade were "combat-ready."

Conference sources said the retiring NATO military chief, Gen. Lauris Norstad of the U.S., criticized the conventional forces at his disposal.

SHORT OF EVERYTHING

Norstad said he had two aims in Europe—deterrence and defence—and could not achieve one without the other.

The sources said McNamara described NATO forces, with the exception of those from the U.S. and Canada, as being short of everything.

While not mentioning any country by name, McNamara said there would have to be more money spent, more men, more modern equipment and more obsolete aircraft.

He said this all was within the power of the alliance.

Sources said the general approach of McNamara's speech indicated it was U.S. policy to use whatever weapons were required to protect the interests of the alliance.

McNamara said the West must maintain a large enough capability to deter any original use of nuclear weapons, but

50 SURVIVE AIR CRASH

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A Brazilian airliner made a forced landing on a jungle lake shore near the Amazon River port of Manaus today and the air force said all 50 persons aboard survived.

The four-engine Constellation went down in pre-dawn darkness a few minutes before its scheduled landing at Manaus. The plane was on a 2,500-mile flight from Rio de Janeiro via Belem and other points.

'Oil Industry Will Not Suffer'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian oil production targets will be reached "with ease" despite the new American policy on crude oil imports, Trade Minister

Hees said today. He said some increase in Canadian exports to the U.S. has been agreed on.

His statement followed 1½ days of discussion with United States authorities—chiefly on Canadian exports to areas east of the Rocky Mountains where the crude competes with the American products.

Mr. Hees declined to give any specific figures on whether Canadian exports will be limited to this area but he said the delegations "discussed the range of exports to the U.S. for the first six months of 1963."

Then there would be another meeting.

An increase had been agreed on in a certain range and he expressed confidence that the Canadian industry will not suffer.

New Relay Satellite Has Heart Troubles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.

(AP)—A newly-launched Relay communications satellite with a Canadian-designed electronic heart showed signs of trouble with its power supply today.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration said its first report from the eight-sided satellite indicated its power "may be a little lower than normal."

As a result, NASA announced in Washington it is postponing radio communication tests between the United States and satellite.

Europe that had been planned for the fifth and sixth orbits of the satellite today.

Instead, further tests and receptions of telemetry data by the space agency's test station at Nutley, N.J., will be made at that time. Those tests, the agency said, will check the preliminary indications about the power supply.

PARIS (Reuters)—European tracking stations today picked up signals from Relay, the new telecommunications satellite.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

DECEMBER 14

The sloop Leonede arrived today from Bentrack Arm and Queen Charlotte Islands with 16 passengers. There were five miners from the Queen Charlotte Copper mine which has suspended operations for the winter. The ship stopped at Port Rupert and Nanaimo.

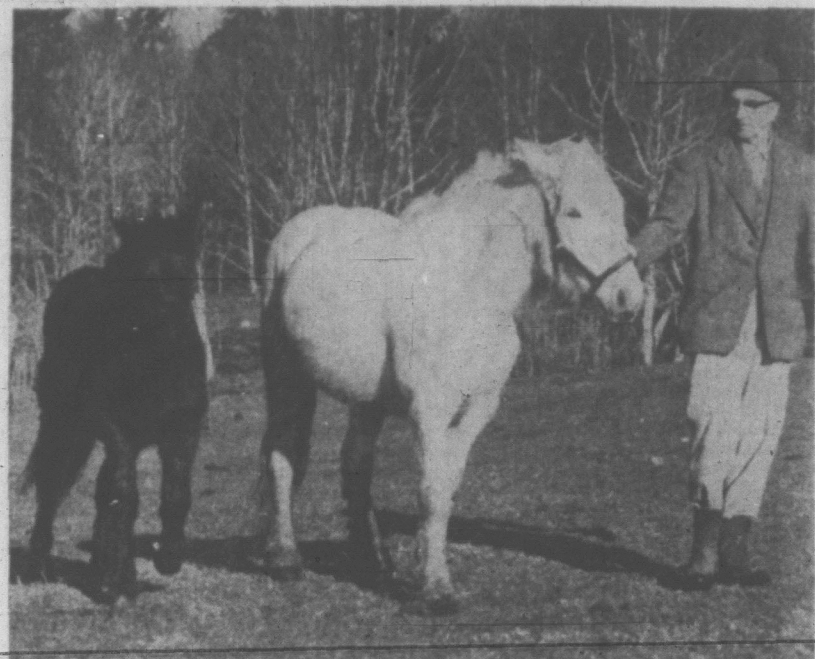

The steamer Thames towed the brig Sheef Anchor into Ross Bay this morning in an effort to bring the cargo of the wrecked ship Rosedale into port. Upon the arrival of the two ships, it was evident that there was such a heavy ground swell running, the operation would have to wait until tomorrow.

A three-year-old child was picked up by city police near James Bay Bridge this morning and taken to police barracks as the parents have not been contacted.

A sailor belonging to the crew of HMS Devastation was locked up today by Sergeant Blake on a charge of desertion.

RANCHER PROUD OF HIGHLANDERS

Shoeless Bonny Shuns Shelter But She's First-Rate Charmer

By ARTHUR MAYSE

Bonny, one year-old and midnight-black, has never slept in a barn or worn a shoe. Her fetlocks are neat as a pipe major's gaiters, she finds her own fodder, and since her forebears came from the most windy moorlands, the near presence of shaggy Highland cattle and black-faced Hebridean sheep disturbs her not at all.

As one of the only two Highland ponies on Vancouver Island, she roams a green pasture on Howard Rogerson's ranch at Gordon's Beach near Sooke. For company, the little long-legged filly has a 14-year-old white mare called Nancy, imported to British Columbia from North Uist.

Mr. Rogerson is proud of his heavy-coated Highlanders. When the Times asked about them, he drew a long breath and started in to talk.

"Hardy?" he said. "Man, you've no idea! They need no shelter, they're even tougher than the Highland cattle. Bonny and Nancy are living on what you see around. As mounts, they're docile and steady. In Scotland, they use them for trail rides through rough upland country. A Highland pony was King George V's favorite mount. 'Jock' was his name; he followed the king in a horse box on his travels."

MORE NEXT YEAR

Mr. Rogerson, who this month fetched Bonny over from Bruce MacLean's breeding farm near Langley, plans to increase his pony herd considerably next year. He sees Vancouver Island as providing a better market for Highlanders than the mainland.

"Natural born jumpers," he goes on, after drawing in a refill of salty-moist Sooke air that might have been imported from the Outer Hebrides. "Grand show ponies, too, and absolutely safe. They're wise to the bog holes, and would never blunder into one. Another good point: the Highland pony has a very hard foot. We never shoe ours, and they don't in Scotland, except where they are to be used on surfaced roads or in gravel."

ON LARGE SIDE

The gentle white mare, Nancy, is a trifle large at 14 hands for a Highlander. Bonny in another three years should stand an ideal 13 hands, and weigh about 700 pounds.

Slightly larger than the popular Welsh pony, but smaller than a horse, she will be an excellent mount for a girl or boy, but capable, with her tremendously strong back, of carrying a grown man. When 25 years old she will be at her seasoned best, and her active lifespan may well extend for 12 years beyond that.

"A lifetime deal," Mr. Rogerson points out. "One can enjoy the Highland pony without having to work at it, and they're with you as long as you need 'em."

VIA GLASGOW

Bonny traces back to the Isle of Mull and the famed Calgary Estate from which the Alberta city takes its name.

Nancy, Edinburgh-registered, came to Canada by way of Glasgow.

"To show how attached one becomes to a Highland pony," Mr. Rogerson said, "let me tell you this, Nancy's owner, a fine Scotswoman called Kirstie MacKenzie, sat up all night with her in the shipping pen before she sailed!"

Fire Panic Averted In Store

Near panic was averted in a packed variety store at the Town and Country Shopping Plaza when two fires flared up Thursday evening.

The blazes occurred almost simultaneously at opposite ends of F. W. Woolworth Co. store, and there is little doubt they were set deliberately.

Reason is not known

MATCHES FOUND

Matches were found stuffed under the merchandise. Nearly $30 damage was done to the lingerie, and two boxes of crackers were destroyed.

"The worst thing is that the people in the store could have been panicked, and someone would have been hurt," a spokesman said.

As it was, some shoppers left the store hurriedly when a smoke started spreading through the crowd.

Had there been excited shouting, there could have been a general rush for the exits in which some of the shoppers could have been trampled or knocked into display cases.

But attendants moved quickly and quietly and with the help of some customers had the fires extinguished before the arrival of fire department crews from the nearby Saanich police-fire headquarters.

Municipal detectives are assisting investigators from the provincial fire marshal's office at Vancouver in a probe which was started immediately.

Ex-Victoria Doctor Dies In Honolulu

A well-known doctor, who practised in Victoria 10 years, died suddenly in Honolulu Wednesday night, it was learned here today.

Dr. E. C. Hoodless practised as an orthopaedic surgeon in Victoria until 1960, when he went to Honolulu.

He died Wednesday night in his sleep at the age of 47. It is believed he suffered a heart attack.

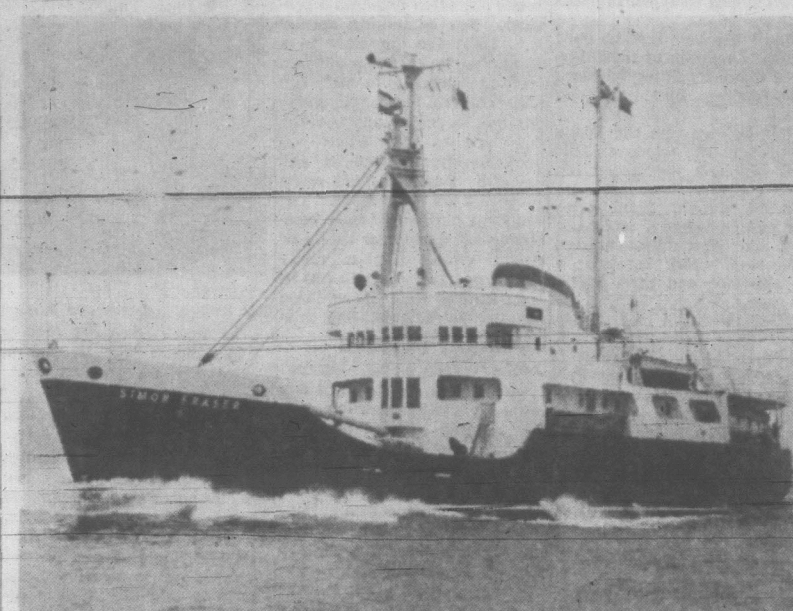

His two boys are attending school in Victoria. Harold is at Victoria College and David at Oak Bay High School.

He is also survived by the widow Rebecca, and his mother, Mrs. I. M. Hoodless, in Hamilton, Ont.

VICTORIA HIGH School graduate WAC2 Margaret Morgan, who joined the RCAF last August, was awarded scroll and gold lanyard as honor graduate of new entry course at St. Jean, Quebec, recently. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Morgan, 192 Bushby, she is now stationed at Toronto.

Victoria Icebreaker St. Lawrence-Bound

INCREASED WINTER shipping activity in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, due to seaway traffic, has necessitated transfer of CGS Simon Fraser from west to east coast. She leaves Jan. 4 by way of Panama Canal.

By MONTE ROBERTS

The light icebreaker and supply vessel CGS Simon Fraser, which has been based at Victoria since 1960, will be transferred to the St. Lawrence River, a department of transport spokesman said today.

The 204-foot vessel, built by Burrard Drydock Ltd., is being moved east due to the increase in winter navigation in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the need for more aids to navigation in Hudson Bay and approaches.

The Simon Fraser has been engaged in lighthouse supply and buoy work on the west coast, between Victoria and Prince Rupert.

SAILS JAN. 4

With Capt. James A. Sleight, veteran weather ship master, in command, she will sail Jan. 4 for Quebec via the Panama and Halifax. On arrival at Quebec, the ship's personnel will be returned to Victoria.

The department spokesman said that "some redistribution" will probably be made when they return to Victoria, but "it is expected they can all be looked after without any layoffs."

SEARCH, RESCUE

Jobs will be found for most of them on two special type vessels now building in west coast yards, the cutters CGS looked after without any layoffs will go into service in the spring and summer of 1963. Each will have a complement of 38, and their primary duties will be in the field of search and rescue.

The Simon Fraser will assist CGS Tupper with icebreaking in the lower St. Lawrence in winter and early spring, and service aids to navigation in Hudson Bay during the summer.

The heavy icebreaker Camshell will remain based at Victoria.

Three-Way Drive Hits Milk Order

British Columbia dairy farmers today launched a three-pronged assault on a Milk Board order which they claim has destroyed the price-setting formula under which they have worked harmoniously with distributors for the past five years.

Protest against a price-to-producer cut of up to 30 cents per hundredweight moved in these directions:

1. Island and mainland producer delegates are in session at Vancouver with Milk Board chairman E. C. Carr. Spokesmen say they will settle only for a flat quashing of the order which on Nov. 8 became law under the Milk Industry Act.

2. At least one, major producer's group, Mainland Dairy-men's Association, is weighing the possibility of taking its protest to court if the order stands.

3. Following a protest meeting called by the association at Abbotsford and attended by 500 producers Thursday night, a petition urging that the order be rescinded is being circulated among dairymen.

By Monday its sponsors expect to have 1,200 signatures. They state the total will include a number of Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association members who have rebelled against their own directorate's pro-order stand.

Meanwhile, Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, which sent three delegates to the Vancouver meeting, is watching the situation closely.

Opening gun in the mainland milk producers' campaign took the shape of a resolution passed at the Abbotsford rally. The resolution says that unless the offending order is recalled, Mainland Dairymen's Association will no longer accept the Milk Industry Act as effective in setting a fair producer price for milk.

Later, group president Phil Fadden said that if the government doesn't act, a second meeting may be called to weigh the possibility of court action.

The order puts a ceiling on fluid milk prices, holding them to $3 a hundredweight over the price of manufacturing milk. Mainland farmers claim they are losing from 12 to 26 cents a can, while the loss to Island producers is about 30 cents, due to higher operating costs.

In a telephone conversation with the Times, herd owner William Savage of Glendowan Farm near Ladner confirmed that mainland dairymen may take their case to court if the outcome of today's meeting with Mr. Carr fails to satisfy them.

Cross-Examine Milk Board Head

"We can't sue the Milk Board," Mr. Savage said, "but what we might do is seek a mandate taking Mr. Carr to court, so that we can cross-examine him on why he issued the order."

Mr. Savage, a member of the advisory board to the Milk Board, is one of those speaking for producers at the Vancouver meeting.

"What worries us," he said, "is that Mr. Carr has thrown our formula price out the window. It's all wrong to key the price paid the dairymen for Class 1 milk (4 per cent butterfat) to Class 3 (manufacturing milk)."

He predicted that the order, if allowed to stand, would combine with a cut in the federal butter subsidy to reduce producers' per-hundred-weight take by 75 cents before the end of next June.

"The farmer," said Mr. Savage, "is up against the wall. Over here, a lot of operators are cutting everything else simply to keep going. Families are getting along without hired help—the farmer and his wife doing all the milking themselves, many of them so they can keep their children in school or college."

THEY WANT BIG BROTHER FOR CHRISTMAS

Two young Victoria children are hoping Santa Claus will bring home their older brother who has been missing since Aug. 15.

Mrs. Isabel Bennett of 123 Simcoe Street, said today she can't get this idea out of the heads of her children.

Her 18-year-old son Tom may have never been away from home overnight until he disappeared four months ago. At first it was thought he might have joined a travelling circus that had played Victoria. But a check ruled this out.

FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH

Government Ferries To Run Extra Trips

The Toll Authority is expecting huge loads of Christmas holiday travellers this year on ferries between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

To handle the rush it will run virtually an hourly service for six days.

There will be four extra ferries daily on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen and Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay routes.

This is the first time the Toll Authority has had enough ships to handle the Christmas rush. Last year there was no special schedule and ferries ran late into the night to carry overloads.

The Christmas service starts next Friday, and continues Dec. 22, 23, 24, 26 and 27.

The service from Swartz Bay, normally on odd hours between 7 a.m. and 9 p.m., will be augmented by extra sailings at 8 a.m., 12 noon, 4 and 8 p.m.

The Nanaimo service, normally every other "even" hour from 8 a.m., will have extra sailings at 9 a.m., 1, 5 and 9 p.m. Ships coming from Horseshoe Bay will sail at 7 a.m., 11, 3 p.m. and 7.

What Is Right Side Of Highway?

Which is the right side and which is the left side of a road?

The problem puzzled magistrates' court in Nanaimo on Thursday and a traffic case was adjourned to Jan. 23 to allow the Crown time to investigate the legal point.

Maurice Delamore Lee of Vancouver is charged with parking on the wrong side of the highway following a three-car collision Aug. 7.

Lee's lawyer, Harold Hine, said there is no such offence in the law statutes.

Hine said Section 181 of the Motor Vehicle Act states a car must be parked with its right-hand wheels parallel to the roadway and parallel to the right-hand side of the road.

"The question is, which is the right-hand side of the road," said Hine.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—Can you please tell me if there is an archery club in Victoria? If so, when do they meet and what is its address?

A. Victoria Bowmen meet each Wednesday at 1218 Broad Street, from 7:30 to 10 p.m.; also on Sunday afternoons from 1:30 to 4 p.m. For further information contact Mrs. E. Thain, 2758 Foul Bay Road.

Q. When did Russia drop or test her first atomic bomb? A.R.

A. The Soviet Union tested its first atomic bomb in August of 1949.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem alone to "The Times," addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

"B" group of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to the power line at Burnside West. If it is raining the group will go to the Nature House at Francis Park for a film show.

The Nature House will be open on Sunday from 10:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

There will be no letter box collections, mail delivery or wicket service on Christmas Day or New Year's Day, the post office announced today.

On Boxing Day, wicket service will be from 8 a.m. to noon and mail pickups will be made in the evening only.

The sanctuary choir at Metropolitan United Church will present a program of Christmas music at the morning service next Sunday at 11. Soloists will be Mrs. Harold Robinson and Mrs. Grace Hanning.

Victoria Short Wave Club will hold its regular meeting at 2500 Foul Bay Road, tonight at 8.

Cloverdale PTA will hold its monthly meeting on Monday evening at 7:30 in the school.

Colquitz Junior High School PTA will hold a Christmas concert in the school on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The United States destroyer USS Charles E. Brannon will visit Esquimalt Sunday, with 19 officers and 172 men aboard. Commanded by Lt. Cmdr. R. S. Evetts, USN (R), she will also have aboard Capt. J. K. Carpenter, USN (R), senior officer of the US naval reserve destroyer division of the USN's 13th Naval District, Seattle.

Victoria Optimist Club opened its annual Christmas tree lot today at 2017 Quadra Street. Proceeds will be used to assist the club in its various youth development programs.

A Christmas concert by the pupils of John Stubbs Memorial School will be presented at the school's PTA meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Open to every family in Belmont Park.

Commissioned and senior non-commissioned officers of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will play an unfamiliar role next Friday at Work Point Barracks.

They will be acting as waiters for junior NCOs and privates when the annual all-ranks' Christmas dinner is served at the Esquimalt garrison.

More than 300 members of the White Cane Club, guides, drivers and friends gathered in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hall Thursday at noon for their annual Christmas dinner.

Speakers included Mayor R. B. Wilson, who brought greetings from the city; A. G. Robbins, vice-president of the Victoria Branch, CNIB; Eric Brettell, director in charge of arrangements, and Miss Gloria Mortimore, CNIB field secretary.

Mrs. E. Watling, president of the club, led the gathering in carol singing, and Lance Whitaker, with Al Smith at the piano, led with popular songs.

CPSS Princess Patricia was moved to Yarrows Ltd. today, for an extensive conversion job fitting her out as an Alaska cruise liner.

Victoria Camera Club will meet Wednesday in the St. John Ambulance Hall at 7:45 p.m. Guest speaker will be Ted Goodall who will show slides of Lake O'Hara and Jasper National Park.

Foiled Holdup Leads to Arrests

Saanich and Esquimalt police, investigating a holdup attempt on an all-night gas station early Thursday, uncovered $1,500 worth of stolen goods which triggered arrests by Colwood and city police the same evening.

Saanich detectives were investigating the holdup of attendant Bert Carson at Westview Service Station, Tillicum and Trans-Canada Highway, when a stolen car was spotted by naval shore patrol in Esquimalt, near the Gorge beer parlor.

COVERED WITH OIL

Interior of the car, stolen in the city, was covered with oil and the vehicle is believed to be the one used by three hooded youths who held up Mr. Carson at gunpoint.

The attendant had broken a bottle of oil over the head of one of the men, and all three were believed covered with the heavy lubricant.

The car now is being held by Saanich police who are dusting it for fingerprints.

The car itself led police to a Menzies Street address where they questioned several occupants in connection with the holdup.

At the address Saanich detectives then uncovered $1,500 worth of equipment stolen from schools in the Langford-Colwood area the weekend of Dec. 1.

Two adding machines, a movie projector, record player and radio were missing from Belmont High School, Elizabeth Fisher Junior High and Langford Elementary after break-ins.

The equipment was discovered hidden under a mattress in a closet.

Colwood and city police were called in and arrested the occupant of the room in connection with six or seven break-ins in their territory.

Colwood RCMP also arrested a juvenile in connection with the thefts, later in the day.

That day, Esquimalt police stopped Arthur B. Loring, 18, of 59 Menzies, driving in the municipality.

He appeared in city police court this morning where he pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft from Menzies Fish and Chips, 211 Menzies, Tuesday, procuring goods from the T. Eaton Co. through false pretences, Wednesday, and driving without a licence or insurance.

He was remanded to Dec. 21 for probation report and sentences on the first two charges, and was sentenced to seven days, not concurrent, on the two traffic counts.

Court was told he entered Menzies Fish and Chips Shop through a side window, and pried open a cigarette machine with a hatchet to take loose change.

Saskatoon Quakers Humbled 13-3

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Saskatoon Quakers, as ragged a group of Canadian skaters as ever sent abroad, were blasted 13-3 by Sweden's national hockey team tonight in one of Canada's worst defeats in international exhibition hockey.

The superior Swedes scored nine goals, before the shoddy Saskatoon contingent was able to find the mark. Combined with their 7-0 defeat the previous night at the hands of the Swedes, that means that the Quakers had 16 goals scored against them without a reply.

Smokies May Not Get Olmstead

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bert Olmstead may not be able to play for the Trail Smoke Eaters in the world hockey championships because of hockey regulations.

The veteran left-winger was told this by Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League. Olmstead is New York Rangers property but he was suspended when he refused to report to the NHL team this season.

Missing Footballer Turns Up

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (CP)—Dave Viti, import end with Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League, has turned up here after first being reported missing. Viti was called to Providence more than a week ago because of a family illness. Police were notified when, a week later, he still had not turned up. His whereabouts in the meantime were not known.

Canadian Skiers Outclassed

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP)—Skiers from Canada and the United States were badly outclassed today in the giant slalom of the International Criterium.

The best showing was a 15th placing by a member of the trouble-plagued Canadian team, Peter Duncan, 19, of Mont Tremblant, Que.

'Deep Freeze' to Hike Fruit Prices

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A 25 to 30-per-cent increase in the retail price of imported vegetables and an even higher increase in citrus fruit prices was forecast today in the wake of the freeze in Florida.

Charles Taylor, produce manager for National Grocers Company Ltd., said his company may have to turn to markets in Texas, Arizona and California early in the new year to secure supplies of fruit and vegetables, and may have to turn to the British Honduras for grapefruit.

YOUNGEST IN CANADA

City Bishop Consecrated

ST. BONIFACE (CP)—Most conducted by Archbishop Rev. Remigio Joseph De Roo, Maurice Boudoux of St. Boniface became Canada's youngest bishop today. He was 21 with his consecration in St. Boniface Basilica.

The 35-year-old clergyman leaves shortly for British Columbia to take over Victoria diocese.

He was consecrated in a three-hour morning ceremony before an array of church dignitaries.

FRIENDSHIP DOLLARS

It Started With War Victims

The Times appeal for "Friendship Dollars for India" is made in support of the Unitarian Service Committee.

That name is, in a way, misleading. Because the USC has nothing to do with the Unitarian churches.

Back in 1945, when the USC was formed, it was a Canadian development of the work of the Unitarian churches in the United States.

But it quickly severed all connections with the U.S. and the Unitarians although it retained its original name. It has for years been an independent agency with support from persons of many religions.

Just as it draws support regardless of creed so it also extends help regardless of nationality, color or caste. It raises funds by public appeals across Canada with the goal this year being $300,000.

When it began in 1945 it helped mainly war victims. Today it is victims of poverty, disease and illiteracy who are being aided and rehabilitated.

But only a small proportion of the total who need help are being aided by the USC. There is not enough money to finance badly-

LADIES FIRST!

First car up the ramp of the civic View Street parking garage this morning was driven by Mrs. C. C. Wyatt after her husband, the city manager, officially opened the building. With her were wives of Mayor R. B. Wilson and Ald. Michael Griffin—credited as the driving force behind the project. Cavalcade of cars bearing civic and business officials followed into the partly completed building.

Civic Square Approved,
Parking Garage Opened

By JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

A jubilant city council—backed by a landslide vote for the civic precinct—attended the opening of the first civic car park downtown today.

They all felt that the double event marked the turning point in a full-scale revitalization of downtown Victoria.

"This is indeed a red-letter day for the city of Victoria," said a beaming Mayor R. B. Wilson as he addressed more than 100 persons at the opening of the View Street parking garage.

"Last night Centennial Victoria Square received overwhelming endorsement and today we are opening this fine parking building which signifies that the hopes and aspirations of downtown Victoria have been achieved."

They Wanted to 'Get on With It'

The sheer weight of approval by the ratepayers is expected to set up a momentum within council to keep revitalization projects humming until the city's rundown areas are transformed.

There appeared no doubt that the ratepayers were anxious for city council to "get on with it" as some aldermen observed and the endorsement is expected to intensify enthusiasm for other projects such as the Inner Harbor improvement, urban renewal and a general beautification program.

The new confidence generated by the vote was shown by Mayor Wilson when he predicted the View Street car park will be "the forerunner of

The $850,000 Centennial Victoria Square money by-law—which will create a comprehensive civic precinct around the City Hall within three years—was backed by a four-to-one majority at the polls.

It drew 4,099 yes votes against 1,018 no ballots in a turnout that saw 30.92 per cent of the eligible voters signify their wishes.

Other structures that will remain downtown Victoria as the most complete, most attractive and most fascinating shopping centre on Vancouver Island.

(More informally, the mayor's first reaction when told ballot counting indicated the bylaw would pass, was an ear-splitting "Whoopie!")

Civic precinct chairman Ald. A. W. Toome, who also won reelection Thursday, said he would schedule a meeting for Monday to begin detailed work on the precinct plan.

Honor of officially opening the car park—put into service although a couple of floors remain to be completed—was given city manager C. C. Wyatt in recognition of his years of service to the city.

Downtown Businessmen's Association president Douglas Abbott was master of ceremony.

'Santa Claus'
Disguise Used

MONTREAL (CP)—Two policemen were killed and two wounded today by the withering fire of four bandits who held up the Cote de Liesse branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in suburban St. Laurent.

One of the bandits was dressed as Santa Claus. The others wore masks.

Unconfirmed reports said the four got away with about $10,000.

There were reports that the bandits fired on the injured policemen before escaping in a white sedan.

The getaway car cut wildly across a nearby field, churning up snow, mud and grass.

It was believed none of the bandits was injured.

BLOCK ROADS

The dead policemen were identified as Claude Martineau, 40, and Denis Erabant, 31.

Provincial and St. Laurent police set up road blocks and blocked all bridges at the west end of Montreal island.

The bandits entered the bank about 11 a.m. An alarm system was set off.

One employee said the Santa Claus bandit was in the vault, attempting to clean it of money. A second bandit was at the tills.

QUEBEC (CP)—Two armed bandits climbed aboard an automobile at an intersection in Quebec's Lower Town today and stole $25,000 in army pay.

The money, being carried by bank employees, was en route to the army camp at Valcartier, 20 miles north of here.

and a third held off employees at gunpoint. The fourth was the lookout man, standing just outside the bank.

The three inside the bank were either tipped by the lookout or heard the two police cars drive up.

One of the three dived through a window—through a venetian blind, glass and a wire screen. The other two raced outside to join the lookout.

U.S. Policy
Will Not Hurt
Oil Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian oil production targets will be reached "with ease" despite the new American policy on crude oil imports, Trade Minister Hees said today. He said some increase in Canadian exports to the U.S. has been agreed on.

His statement followed 1½ days of discussion with United States authorities—chiefly on Canadian exports to areas east of the Rocky Mountains where the crude competes with the American producers.

Mr. Hees declined to give any specific figures on whether Canadian exports will be limited to this area but he said the delegations "discussed the range of exports to the U.S. for the first six months of 1963."

Then there would be another meeting.

An increase had been agreed on in a certain range and he expressed confidence that the Canadian industry will not suffer.

FOR NATO

Seaborne
A-Force
Proposed

Times News Services

PARIS—U.S. State Secretary Rusk today proposed formation of a multilateral NATO seaborne nuclear force while another American official strongly criticized the preparedness of NATO forces.

Council sources quoted Rusk as saying the Seaborne nuclear force—earlier proposed by the Eisenhower administration—would be established if the European members of NATO wanted it.

The sources said Rusk made his surprise offer after intervention during the 15-nation NATO ministerial council's military debate. Rusk named political and military control and cost as the main problems of the seaborne nuclear force.

In strong criticism of European NATO forces, U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara said only the 400,000 American troops and the Canadian NATO brigade were "combat-ready."

Conference sources said the retiring NATO military chief, Gen. Lauris Norstad of the U.S. criticized the conventional forces at his disposal.

SHORT OF EVERYTHING
Norstad said he had two aims in Europe—deterrence and defence—and could not achieve one without the other.

The sources said McNamara described NATO forces, with the exception of those from the U.S. and Canada, as being short of everything.

While not mentioning any country by name, McNamara said there would have to be more money spent, more men, more modern equipment and more aircraft.

He said this all was within the power of the alliance.

Sources said the general approach of McNamara's speech indicated it was U.S. policy to use whatever weapons were required to protect the interests of the alliance.

WITH VENUS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mariner II whizzed close to Venus today, giving anxious and excited scientists 35,000,000 miles away on earth man's first closeup check on another planet.

Radio contact between the space probe, the planet and earth was established about 2 p.m. EST (11 a.m. PST.)

Through Mariner's heat- and radio-sensitive eyes scientists hope to learn the weight, temperature and something about the atmosphere of the cloud-veiled planet, now the morning star seen before dawn in the southeast sky.

It may be as long as a month before the radioed data can be analyzed and evaluated, however.

New Relay Satellite Has Heart Troubles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A newly-launched Relay communications satellite with a Canadian-designed electronic heart showed signs of trouble with its power supply today.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration said its first report from the eight-sided satellite indicated its power "may be a little lower than normal."

As a result, NASA announced in Washington it is postponing radio communication tests between the United States and Europe that had been planned for the fifth and sixth orbits of the satellite today.

Instead, further tests and receptions of telemetry data by the space agency's test station at a Nutley, N.J., will be made at that time. Those tests, the agency said, will check the preliminary indications about the power supply.

PARIS (Reuters)—European tracking stations today picked up signals from Relay, the new telecommunications satellite.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's forest fire losses this year were the second lowest on record, the federal forestry department reported Wednesday.
